'Abby' Whips West Coast Of Florida

Gale Winds, Heavy Rains Make Feint Toward Fort Myers

BULLETIN

PUNTA GORDA, Fla. (AP)—Hurricane Abby moved onto this west coast Florida fishing village today and aimed her diminishing winds and torrential rains across the state toward the nation's moonport on Cape Kennedy. Behind her five persons were missing and a child was dead, a victim of Abby's flooding.

TAMPA, Fla. (AP) — Hurricane Abby whipped the resort-dotted Florida west coast with gale winds and torrential rains today after stalling in the Gulf of Mexico about 140 miles southwest of the populous Tampa Bay area.

After a stop-and-go push toward Tampa, the hurricane made a feint in the direction of the Fort Myers area and then settled on the same spot where it had spent much of Monday night.

Abby's erratic march Monday put her close enough to the coastal towns south of Tampa for her heavy fringe winds to hit land and cause some flooding along gulf-side highways.

National Hurricane Center forecaster Arnold Suggs said a Navy plane flew into the shifting eye of the storm and fixed it coordinates at latitude 26.0 north and longitude 83.0 west, or about 80 miles from Marco Beach, Fla.

Gale winds reached out about 150 miles to the north and east of the storm's center, the Weather Bureau said.

Hurricane warnings were displayed from Marco Island to Tarpon Springs and gale warnings elsewhere over Florida from Cedar Key and Melbourne southward.

Suggs said when the hurricane reorganized, it would likely continue on its original course toward the Tampa Bay area where there are nearly a million persons.

One death was attributed to the hurricane and five persons were reported missing at sea.

Officials said Abby-spawned floodwaters claimed the life of one-year-old April Geans in Key West. Deputies said she drowned after wandering away from a relative.

District Will Enjoy 'Rare' June Weather

While "Abby" is kicking the gong around down south, the tri-state district is enjoying the kind of weather that normally is associated with June.

The forecast calls for fair and mild tonight, with the low ranging between the high 50s and low 60s, and for mostly sunny and warmer Wednesday.

Tomorrow's high is expected to soar into the 80s.

All of which causes one to meditate: "What is so rare as a day in June . . .?"

Unions Pressing French Strikers

PARIS (AP) — French union leaders went to their striking members today, seeking approval of agreements to get the trains and the Paris buses and subways moving again. The government was optimistic, but there was no assurance the workers would ratify the agreements.

The Banque de France resumed operations after being closed two weeks. Hundreds of small and medium-sized factories reopened across the country, signaling a partial break in the paralyzing general strike now nearing the end of its third week. Coal miners also were returning to the job, with normal operations expected Wednesday.

But many of the country's industrial giants were still struck, with no resumptions of operations in sight. And until mail deliveries resume, trains start rolling and public transport is restored in the cities, there will be nothing like a return to normal.

Millions of Parisians flooded back into the city after spending the three-day Pentecost weekend in the country. Monster traffic jams built up at all entrances to the capital, and at main intersections.

Transport Minister Jean Chamant announced the agreements with the railway workers after an all-night bargaining session. He told newsmen: "All the union delegates, without exception, told me they would recommend acceptance."

Strike votes were being held in a host of factories across the country, but workers in many of the largest plants had already rejected the offers of their employers, both private and governmental.

The strike tieup, nearing the end of its third week, was costing an estimated $2 billion a week in lost production. There was speculation that it might hamper the June 23 election of a new National Assembly, since the government radio and television networks are struck, there is only intermittent interurban telephone communications, and the mails and the railroads still are not operating.

Workers at three big auto factories—Renault, Citroen and Peugot—announced continuance of their strikes despite company appeals for votes on a proposed settlement. The situation was the same at the Saviem and Berliet truck factories in Lyon. Michelin tire employes rejected offers from their employers and voted to stay out. Almost the entire metallurgical industry was also remaining out.

Strikers at a number of smaller factories were returning to their jobs today, but as yet it was impossible to tell how many workers were involved.

Leaders of the political parties continued to hold almost nonstop meetings in preparation for the elections. Premier Georges Pompidou took advantage of the government's radio-television monopoly with a televised attack on the Communist party.

Francois Mitterrand, leader of the non-Communist left, appealed for "the union of all republican forces" against the Gaullists.

Final Match Between Them

McCarthy, Kennedy Eye Crucial California Vote

LOS ANGELES (AP) — California Democrats were making their choice today in the final presidential primary match between Eugene J. McCarthy and Robert F. Kennedy.

The last one was the big one for both contestants, with the victor virtually certain to emerge as the final challenger to Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey for the Democratic presidential nomination.

Generally sunny election day skies were forecast across the nation's most populous state. Polls open at 7 a.m. and close at 8 p.m., PDT—11 p.m. EDT. A vast turnout was expected.

State officials predicted a turnout as high as 67 per cent of the registered voters.

There were 4,347,406 Democrats registered to vote and 3,197,815 Republicans.

Kennedy was the pollsters' favorite in the Democratic race, but a Los Angeles Times poll indicated that people who reported themselves undecided held the balance of decision.

A hefty turnout would benefit McCarthy, the Times poll reported.

On Monday night the National Broadcasting Co. reported that a poll conducted for the network by the Oliver Quayle Co. showed Kennedy getting 39 per cent of the vote to 30 per cent for McCarthy. Thirteen per cent favored delegates headed by California Atty. Gen. Thomas C. Lynch and 18 per cent were undecided.

The poll was taken Sunday, the day after McCarthy and Kennedy met on television.

In the three-way race to take charge of the 174 nominating votes California will cast at the Democratic National Convention, there were delegate slates pledged to McCarthy and to Kennedy, and an uncommitted entry headed by Lynch. Since write-in votes are not permitted, the Lynch slate presumably will get the votes of people who favor Humphrey.

The one certain victor: Republican Gov. Ronald Reagan, running as a favorite son, unopposed in the GOP presidential balloting, and assured of control of California's 86 votes at that party's convention.

Kennedy and McCarthy were meeting in another contest, too, in South Dakota. Humphrey backers there are promoting votes for a slate pledged to President Johnson, who has said he will not run again. South Dakota's 26 convention votes will go to the victor.

South Viet Rangers And Marines Mount Attack In Gia Dinh

SAIGON (AP) — The Viet Cong sent fresh troops into Saigon today on the heels of the heaviest enemy shelling so far of the harassed capital district. U.S. sources conceded that the enemy "certainly could keep the fighting going for quite a while."

New fighting broke out only a mile and a half north of President Nguyen Van Thieu's Independence Palace, in the heart of Saigon, while government forces were still battling other enemy troops for the fifth day in the western part of the capital and in the northeastern suburb of Gia Dinh, 2½ miles from the city's center.

Mount Massive Attack

Military spokesmen reported that South Vietnamese marines and rangers, spearheaded by a column of tanks, mounted a massive attack on North Vietnamese and Viet Cong troops in Gia Dinh this afternoon. The spokesmen said the government troops overran Viet Cong positions and drove the enemy back a mile.

In the western part of the capital, the Chinese section called Cholon, government forces were still trying to root out rocket-firing, sniping enemy troops holed up in a residential area three miles from the presidential palace. Intelligence sources had estimated 15 to 20 guerrillas were holed up, but a defector reported 200 enemy in the area.

U.S. sources said there were reports that five-man Viet Cong cells were infiltrating into the capital in civilian clothes. The reports said the cells were told to hide in "safe" houses as back-up forces.

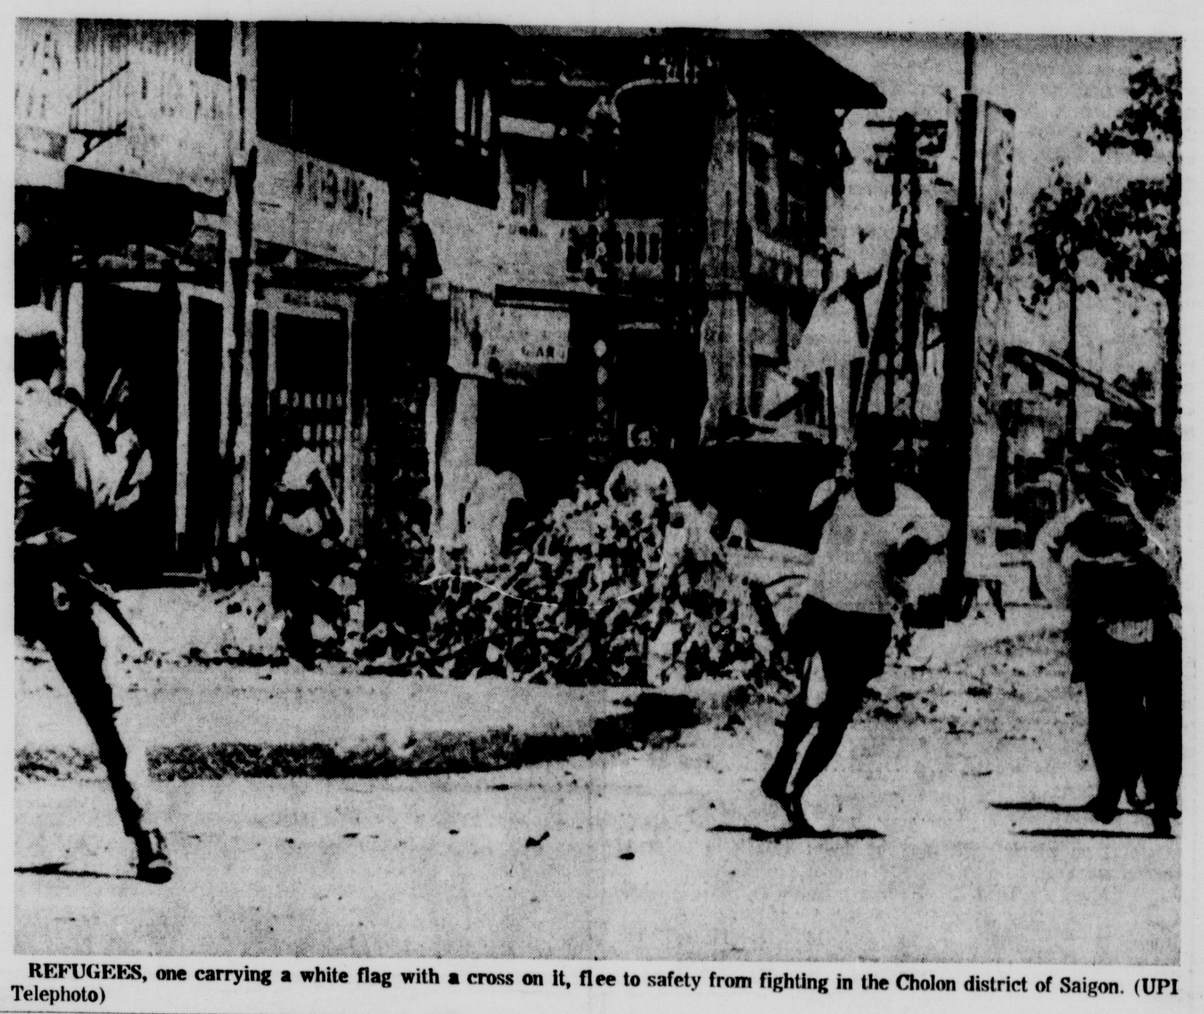

Plan To Influence Talks

Senior U.S. officers say the intensified pressure on Saigon is part of a plan to influence the Paris talks between the United States and North Vietnam.

During the night the Saigon area was hit by some 40 enemy rockets between about 1:30 and 2:30 a.m. It was the biggest enemy bombardment of the war in the area, and as it began the city's sirens sounded for the first time to alert the 3 million inhabitants. But only 10 persons were reported injured and damage was comparatively minor.

Amounts To Plea For Closer Co-Operation

LBJ Sees Peace Road Less Rocky If U. S., Soviet Traveled Together

GLASSBORO, N.Y. (AP) — President Johnson revisiting the site of his year-ago summit talks with Soviet Premier Alexi N. Kosygin, said today the road to peace in Vietnam will be slow and tough- but it would be less rocky if the United States and Russia "are willing to travel part way together."

Johnson, in remarks prepared for commencement exercises at Glassboro State College, made what amounted to an appeal for newer, closer American-Soviet cooperation. He said he wanted to move "from war to peace, from hostility to reconciliation, from stalemate to progress."

Bellicose Statements

The President said in the preliminary Vietnam peace talks in Paris the United States so far has "met with little more than bellicose statements and evasions" from Hanoi's representatives.

This was part of his appeal to the Soviets, too, in enunciating his view of a major principle in the search for peace.

"The road there in Hanoi is far less rocky when the world's two greatest powers the United States and the Soviet Union - are willing to travel part way together," the President said.

Johnson was unabashed in soliciting flatly the good will and help of Russia in seeking an end to the Vietnam fighting and leaving "this world a little more orderly than we found it."

The President told the 1,051 graduates that since his summit meeting with Kosygin at Hollybush, the home of the college president, cooperation between the two nations had reached new heights.

Countries Can Behave

"Although old antagonisms have not been erased," Johnson asserted, "we have proved that our two countries can behave as responsible members of the family of nations."

Johnson left little doubt that he'd welcome more of the same.

Suggesting new avenues of American-Soviet cooperation in studying the human environment and exploring the world's resources—from ocean floors to tropical rain forests—Johnson said, "It is by small treaties . . . that we will weave a strong fabric of peace in the world."

The President flew from Washington in his Air Force jet, landing at Pennsylvania Air National Guard ramp at Philadelphia International Airport, where he climbed into a helicopter for the 30-mile ride to Glassboro.

The exercises were held outdoors for the crowd of about 7,000.

The President's helicopter landed on the athletic field nearby.

Johnson's decision to come to Glassboro had been rumored for the past few days, and he substituted on the program for New Jersey Gov. Richard Hughes.

Bridging The Gulf

Johnson said since he and the Soviet premier met here last June 23 and 25 to forge what was then called "the spirit of Hollybush," he believes that the "two great powers. . .have begun, however haltingly, to bridge the gulf that has separated them for a quarter of a century."

Johnson taking advantage of the anniversary for this major foreign policy address, acknowledged that peace isn't just around the corner. He emphasized, "We will run into difficulties and painful setbacks" with the correct course of public policy often seeming unclear."

But, he said, the task ahead is to "seek answers not slogans to strive to tip the balance in the right direction."

The President said that Glassboro and its college campus "will always be associated with that goal and that great effort."

Johnson said that during the past year "the work of peace has been going on in many ways that do not make headlines. . .but as these issues touch on our relations with the Soviet Union they are important nonetheless."

He noted that work has been completed "on a treaty forbidding weapons in outer space; on an agreement to assist to astronauts downed in either country; on a new consular treaty; on an agreement permitting Soviet planes to land in the United States and ours to land in Moscow."

Driver Hurt As Auto Rams Into Caboose

A Youngstown and Southern Railroad caboose was derailed and a Negley area man injured seriously as the result of a car-train collision early this morning.

Damage to the caboose was estimated at $600 by officers of the Ohio Highway Patrol at Lisbon following the mishap on Route 154, a half-mile west of Route 7.

Admitted to Salem City Hospital was Raymond G. Duke, 15, of Lisbon RD 1 with an injury to the right hip and lacerations of the right arm. He was transferred to South Side Hospital, Youngstown, where he is listed as "fair".

The 1964 sedan driven by Duke was demolished when it crashed into the northbound train at 12:11 a.m., officers said.

Duke was cited by the patrol

Jaycees Open Campaign For Employing Students

A campaign has been launched to provide jobs next week for East Liverpool High School students in order for them to contribute one day's wages to a city recreation program.

Individuals or businesses needing yard work, house work or odd jobs performed may fill out the coupon accompanying and mail it to the Jaycees.

STUDENTS will be obtained for the jobs and the employers will be notified by phone to confirm the hiring, Charles Lang, chairman of the Jaycee project, said. Jaycees Frank Moss and Dick Frankel are in charge of the "Student Work Week."

Some $6,000 is needed for hiring a recreation director for the remainder of 1968. Councilmen have indicated city funds will be made available in 1969, Lang reported.

The Jaycees have contributed $500 to the drive this year.

The new recreation director will be employed by and under the direction of the City Park Commission. He will be a full time recreation supervisor, and is to have specially training in the field of recreation supervision and administration.

Use of the Memorial Auditorium and the high school gymnasium — when not in use by the Kent State Academic Center — has been promised to the Jaycees for the program, and the East Liverpool School Board recently granted use of school recreation facilities for the program when not otherwise in use. The possibility of making use of other community recreational resources is also being explored.

INCLUDED in the responsibilities of the new director will be the organizing of new recreational activities in Thompson Park during the summer months, and in the indoor facilities throughout the remainder of the year.

Archery, tennis instruction, inter-pool swimming competition, arts and crafts, music appreciation and nature study are some of the programs being offered during the summer at Salem which has had such a program for a number of years.

The director would also coordinate use of facilities, seek out new facilities, recruit personnel to supervise activities and publicize recreational activities and facilities to assure maximum use.

Lang said the purpose of the project is to provide the community with a year - round recreation program for persons from age 4 to 84. He pointed out that many other cities of comparable and often smaller size have had similar programs for many years and are today "reaping the benefits of a decreased rate of juvenile delinquency and a retention of the young people in the community after graduation." The program would have an additional asset in inducing new industry to settle in the community. He stated that already a number of persons have volunteered their services to supervise various activities.

Lang reported that other possible sources of funds to pay for the director are being investigated, and service organizations will be encouraged to contribute to the project. Anyone wishing to have the program explained to their club is requested to contact him.

Hulk Found Off Cape Henry May Be German Submarine

NORFOLK, Va. (AP) — A hulk found off Cape Henry by divers hunting for the missing submarine Scorpion may be the German submarine U-548, destroyed by U.S. warships April 30, 1945, seven days before V-E Day.

The submarine Pargo detected the hulk last Friday 70 miles east-northeast of Cape Henry. Divers descended 180 feet to the ocean floor from the submarine rescue ship Sunbird. They reported the hulk was about 250 feet long.

One of the divers, Chief Machinists Mate Ronald C. Hall, told Capt. John Caruso, a physician aboard the Sunbird, that the barnacle-encrusted sub appeared to be in an upright position and partly embedded in the ocean floor.

"His visibility was 40 or 50 per cent," Caruso said, "and he said he could make out a long, sleek craft with what appeared to be sail-like configuration on top and double rod-like objects toward the front which he said appeared to him like 20mm gun mounts.

"He told me the hull went back as far as he could see, and when he approached it, it appeared to be like a vertical wall of steel about 40 feet high.

'He said he banged his helmet on it and kicked it with his boot and found it was metal. He was unable to read any markings on the vessel."

Although Navy officers at Norfolk declined to speculate on whether the hulk is the U-548 Hall's description of it fits the IX-C submarine type to which the U-548 belonged.

That type was 240 feet long, 22 feet abeam, and armed with deck guns. It carried a crew of 5 officer and 46 men.

Only one German submarine is known to have been sunk off the Virginia Coast during World War II.

Mrs. Theda Bassett, director of the submarine museum at New London, Conn., said German and U.S. naval records show the U-548 was destroyed by four U.S. warships April 30, 1945.

Red Leaders In Yugoslavia Fear Students

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia (AP) —Yugoslavia's Communist leaders fear that rebellious students may incite workers to join them in demands for a new deal.

Communist party leaders conferred today on how to satisfy the demands from students occupying the administration building of Belgrade University after demonstrations and clashes with the police Sunday night and Monday in which more than 60 persons were injured.

The balcony of the university building served as a rostrum for student speakers who appeared before a huge picture of President Tito and such slogans as "Down with Red Bourgeoisie" and "The Press is Lying."

Student demands presented to government leaders were:

—Abolition of all social privileges which still exist in Yugoslavia.

—Alleviation of unemployment by removal of poorly qualified workers, a ban on parttime work and jobs for all university graduates.

—Democratization of the Communist party, and the news media, and freedom of meetings and demonstrations.

—Reorganization of the university and equal participation of students in all bodies where essential problems of the country are solved.

—Democratization of educational staff elections.

The student unrest so far has stirred up nothing more than curiosity among Belgrade citizens. But Communist party leaders fear that poorly paid factory workers might be persuaded to join the revolt especially since the authorities have made clear that they are willing to grant at least some of the student demands.

Aftermath Of Primaries

Candidates Have 15 Days To File Expense Reports

Candidates who sought nomination in the May 7 primary elections have just 15 more business days in which to file required sworn statements of campaign receipts and expenses, the County Election Board reminded today.

The board mailed second reminders Monday to the 24 aspirants who have not filed. The deadline falls Friday, June 21, at 4 pm.

The reports are required of all aspirants, except candidates for party county central committee posts who were unopposed. They also must be filed by any individual or committee which supported or opposed any candidate or issue. Unsuccessful candidates as well as nominees are required to file the reports.

THE STATEMENTS are required under the so-called "corrupt practices act," which puts a ceiling on campaign spending. State law does not allow issuance of a cetificate of nomination to any winner who has not complied with the reporting law. This, in effect, denies him a place on the November general election ballot becaue he cannot advance from the primaries without the certificate of nomination.

State law also bars a person from seeking political office again for a minimum of five years if the report is not filed.

The statute places no limit on the funds which may be spent by a committee supporting a candidate, but the same reporting law applies. In both instances, the statements must be accompanied by receipts for any expenditure over $25.

MEANWHILE, the Election Board asked all county subdivisions if they expect to place any special questions or issues on the ballot for the November election. The board asked that subdivisions which contemplate submitting special issues—such as tax levies or bond issues—advise the board as soon as possible so that the data can be used in figuring ballot requirements for the general election. The board explained it expects to open printers' bids on ballots about Aug. 14.

The board emphasized that it was not asking the subdivisions to file formal resolutions immediately for ballot places for the issues, but simply to advise if any are contemplated.

The letter with the request went to the county commissioners, city and village councils, boards of education and township trustees.

The board follows the procedure annually to help it prepare an accurate estimate of ballot requirements before bids are sought.

"He told me the hull went back as far as he could see, and when he approached it, it appeared to be like a vertical wall of steel about 40 feet high.

'He said he banged his helmet on it and kicked it with his boot and found it was metal. He was unable to read any markings on the vessel."

Although Navy officers at Norfolk declined to speculate on whether the hulk is the U-548 Hall's description of it fits the IX-C submarine type to which the U-548 belonged.

That type was 240 feet long, 22 feet abeam, and armed with deck guns. It carried a crew of 5 officer and 46 men.

Only one German submarine is known to have been sunk off the Virginia Coast during World War II.

Mrs. Theda Bassett, director of the submarine museum at New London, Conn., said German and U.S. naval records show the U-548 was destroyed by four U.S. warships April 30, 1945.

Red Leaders In Yugoslavia Fear Students

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia (AP) —Yugoslavia's Communist leaders fear that rebellious students may incite workers to join them in demands for a new deal.

Communist party leaders conferred today on how to satisfy the demands from students occupying the administration building of Belgrade University after demonstrations and clashes with the police Sunday night and Monday in which more than 60 persons were injured.

The balcony of the university building served as a rostrum for student speakers who appeared before a huge picture of President Tito and such slogans as "Down with Red Bourgeoisie" and "The Press is Lying."

Student demands presented to government leaders were:

—Abolition of all social privileges which still exist in Yugoslavia.

—Alleviation of unemployment by removal of poorly qualified workers, a ban on part-time work and jobs for all university graduates.

—Democratization of the Communist party, and the news media, and freedom of meetings and demonstrations.

—Reorganization of the university and equal participation of students in all bodies where essential problems of the country are solved.

—Democratization of educational staff elections.

The student unrest so far has stirred up nothing more than curiosity among Belgrade citizens. But Communist party leaders fear that poorly paid factory workers might be persuaded to join the revolt especially since the authorities have made clear that they are willing to grant at least some of the student demands.

Aftermath Of Primaries

Candidates Have 15 Days To File Expense Reports

Candidates who sought nomination in the May 7 primary elections have just 15 more business days in which to file required sworn statements of campaign receipts and expenses, the County Election Board reminded today.

The board mailed second reminders Monday to the 24 aspirants who have not filed. The deadline falls Friday, June 21, at 4 pm.

The reports are required of all aspirants, except candidates for party county central committee posts who were unopposed. They also must be filed by any individual or committee which supported or opposed any candidate or issue. Unsuccessful candidates as well as nominees are required to file the reports.

THE STATEMENTS are required under the so-called "corrupt practices act," which puts a ceiling on campaign spending. State law does not allow issuance of a cetificate of nomination to any winner who has not complied with the reporting law. This, in effect, denies him a place on the November general election ballot becaue he cannot advance from the primaries without the certificate of nomination.

State law also bars a person from seeking political office again for a minimum of five years if the report is not filed.

The statute places no limit on the funds which may be spent by a committee supporting a candidate, but the same reporting law applies. In both instances, the statements must be accompanied by receipts for any expenditure over $25.

MEANWHILE, the Election Board asked all county subdivisions if they expect to place any special questions or issues on the ballot for the November election. The board asked that subdivisions which contemplate submitting special issues—such as tax levies or bond issues—advise the board as soon as possible so that the data can be used in figuring ballot requirements for the general election. The board explained it expects to open printers' bids on ballots about Aug. 14.

The board emphasized that it was not asking the subdivisions to file formal resolutions immediately for ballot places for the issues, but simply to advise if any are contemplated.

The letter with the request went to the county commissioners, city and village councils, boards of education and township trustees.

DeGaulle Remains Firm

Unfolding events in France give rise to the hope that the Fifth Republic will be able to withstand the onslaught of student and worker revolt and Communist agitation.

Irrespective of personal feelings about President Charles De Gaulle, the Western world can ill afford to lose France to the Communist bloc.

President De Gaulle has served notice he will not hand France over to Red influence on a silver platter. He will not step aside.

THE SHOW OF support for the French leader as thousands demonstrated in his behalf strengthens his position. De Gaulle has hinted he would use troops to restore order.

In his tough speech, De Gaulle said: "France is indeed threatened with dictatorship . . . I shall not withdraw . . . the republic will not abdicate."

Hundreds of thousands of Frenchmen took to the streets after the radio message to show they back the strong stand.

Other positive sparks from the speech include scattered worker response to a plea to return to jobs, reopening of negotiations between unions and the government and support for the Franc by the United States.

Based on De Gaulle's years of harassment of the dollar, some Americans would have the United States let the French president stew in his own juice. However, that course of action would be of the cutting-off-your-nose-to-spite-your-face variety.

Should the De Gaulle regime topple, worldwide Communism would have won a victory, not the United States.

The task of the United States and other nations of the West is to assist De Gaulle and those Frenchmen seeking a return to reason during this dark moment.

FROM AN ORDERLY situation, with the government in control, grievances can be aired and reforms instituted. Anarchy is not the answer.

Once normalcy is restored, it should be fairly obvious—even to De Gaulle—that his policy of narrow nationalism does not fit the times nor the mood of his countrymen.

Without "I told you so" actions from nations that did indeed warn De Gaulle of potential danger in his program, France can work toward a united Western Europe.

It can work through NATO, the Common Market and individual nations to keep alliances strong and raise economic standards to promote domestic tranquility.

France has shouted to the world its disillusionment with present rigid governmental policies. The world is hoping President De Gaulle has been listening.

Squandering Documented

Examples of mismanagement and waste in government aid to underdeveloped nations are endless, but occasionally one comes along that is so ridiculous it is unbelievable.

Such is the case of an Agency for International Development program in Brazil that is under criticism from the General Accounting Office.

An AID loan of $3.4 million helped construct a synthetic rubber plant in Brazil to promote economic growth.

Furthermore, the rubber plant was made to create a market for excess sugar alcohol. At this point the plant is studying the possibility of replacing sugar alcohol with petroleum.

Right now, to market a product that would be competitive and permit the plant to break even would require a 77 per cent reduction in wages and general operation expenses and a 90 per cent cut in the cost of the raw material, sugar alcohol.

That is why petroleum is under consideration as a substitute for sugar alcohol.

Even with the proposed changes the project looks hopeless.

The same GAO report contains a section on a $15.5 million loan for a thermal power plant in Santra Cruz. Inadequate soil tests led to lengthy delays that cost Brazil an extra $1.75 million.

The same lack of tests has caused the project to be labeled a failure in one of its primary goals.

THE POWER PLANT was expected to spark industrial growth. Other industries, when they learned of the poor soil conditions, refused to build on the site.

This complete lack of investigation of technical and economic factors is inexcusable.

The foulups in Brazil are prime examples of why so many taxpayers are fed up with foreign assistance programs.

Taxpayers are not heartless. They would like to help others. But they are just plain tired of Americane dollars being squandered through inept and inefficient management in useless pro-

Cancer And Heredity

For many years now the debate has been going on as to whether or not cancer is hereditary.

In the absence of information which could provide an explanation and understanding of the disease, theories as to its cause or causes and the probability of its being passed on from generation to generation have been numerous.

Now scientists at the University of California have reported strong evidence that human cancers can be inherited.

Surprisingly, their findings support a theory advanced 66 years ago by a German embryologist, Theodor Boveri, who believed that a chromosome imbalance leads to cancer.

The American investigators report their studies show an over-abundance of the chromosome the E-16 chromosome plays a key role in norhuman cells as compared with normal human cells.

Dr. John W. Gofman, principal investigator, says: "We believe a specific chromosomal imbalance is strongly associated with malignant proliferation of human cells."

The California scientists have observed that the E-16 chromosome plays a key role in normal cell production as tissues grow. Chromosomes are packets of genes, life's hereditary units, and they occur in every cell. The number of chromosomes in huma cancer cells usually is higher than in normal cells.

Just what medical science can and will do with this new information, if it is proved conclusively, remains to be seen. But if it is proved to be fact, it will be one more example of how basic research pays off in benefits to mankind.

Measure Of History

A Ronnie Rouser

By Art Buchwald

WASHINGTON — No one has heard from the Little Old Lady in Tennis Shoes this election year, although in 1964 she was Barry Goldwater's staunchest supporter and was quoted constantly during the entire campaign.

Art Buchwald

I was fortunate to run into her the other day on the street. Except for the fact she looked a little grayer and her shoes were a little more scuffed, she had changed little during Lyndon Johnson's years in office.

"Hello, Little Old Lady in Tennis Shoes," I said. "It's good to see you again."

"You say that every four years, but you never come to see me when there aren't any elections going on."

"I'M SORRY," I apologized, "but I've been awfully busy covering President Johnson.

"I'll bet you have," she cackled. "You all laughed at me in 1964, but in your heart you know I was right."

"Tell me, Little Old Lady in Tennis Shoes, what have you been doing for the past four years?"

"Perfecting my serve. When my man lost, I went back to tennis. I've never played better. You got time for a couple of sets? I've got my racket in my shopping bag here."

"Thank you, but I really don't have time to play now."

"Too bad. I could whip the pants off you."

"I know this is a personal question, but who are all the little old ladies in tennis shoes supporting this year?"

"Well, that Ronald Reagan seems like such a nice young man. He's no Barry Goldwater when it comes to thinking, but he dresses so neatly, and he's got such a sincere quality in his voice. I even liked him before he went into politics."

"You had to like him, then," I said.

"Reagan stands for God, home and country," she said, swinging her tennis racket for emphasis. "He believes in the American virtues that all of us hold dear."

"HOW DO YOU FEEL about Rockefeller?"

"That socialist? Do you know he tried to steal the nomination away from Barry Goldwater in 1964? He would have, if we hadn't booed him at the convention."

"Was that you tennis ladies booing Rockefeller?"

"Well, it wasn't Happy," she chuckled as she hit a tennis ball across the street.

"How do you feel about Nixon?"

She paused in the middle of a swing. "Old Tricky Dicky. We tennis shoe people liked old Dick Nixon. The new Nixon gets on our nerves. If we have to go that route we will, but it's the last time."

"You wouldn't consider supporting a Democrat, would you?"

"You must be kidding," she said. "I wouldn't even play one doubles."

"It's that bad, huh?"

"Look, sonny, we little old ladies in tennis shoes have very high standards. We're not going to throw our vote away on leftist, pinko, deficit spenders who want to fluoridate our drinking water. You sure you don't have time for one set?"

"I wish I did," I said regretfully, "but I have to get back to the office."

SHE PUT HER tennis racket back in her shopping bag. "Too bad," she said. "I've really perfected my backhand."

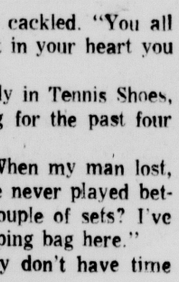

"I guess I'll see you at the Republican convention."

"You bet your sweet life you will, sonny," she said, jumping over an imaginery net to shake my hand. "And this time we're going to give it to Rockefeller good. Those Eastern Establishment socialists just never learn."

VICTOR RIESEL

Rocky's Backers Impatient

NEW YORK — Nelson Rockefeller's top strategists have been holding a series of soothe-ins. Some of his most voluble, knowledgeable, and financial people have been complaining that the Governor is running like an empty brook.

Victor Riesel

But the message these intimate sessions — one in the sky-high Tower Suite and another at the more proletarian Overseas Press Club — has been to cool it, don't rock the boat, wait for Dick Nixon to make a mistake, stay "fluid and flexible," but get ready to tool up after the national nominating convention if lightning strikes.

At a guarded session last Monday night, some of Mr. Rockefeller's top 50 policy makers on the political, industrial and labor fronts actually asked Bob Douglas, one of his executive suite chaps, if "Nelson plans to pull out again."

The answer, which did little to revive the dispirited political ensemble, was that the Governor is in for the duration, and that Dick Nixon does not have it sewn up because only 15 per cent of the '64 convention delegates will be repeaters this year in Miami.

THAT FIGURE is a little too low. Actually it will run about 20 per cent, according to one who has counted virtually every nose in every state.

After the breakup of the soothe-in, some of Mr. Rockefeller's most intimate associates talked of his disastrous about-face some months ago when he decided not to run. They explained it was mostly prompted by his deep friendship for Lyndon Johnson.

Few realize how close they are and have been ever since 1965. It was on Jan. 19 of that year, the eve of the inauguration, that an effervescent Lyndon Johnson swept into the Governor's reception at the Sheraton. He moved almost hydraulically towards the box of Nelson and Happy Rockefeller, embraced the Governor and then with the noisy gaiety of the basement hall drowning out his words, thanked "Nelson" for his help in the campaign. Mr. Rockefeller had not backed Barry Goldwater that season.

And there still is another untold story of that era. President Johnson offered the New York Governor a post which would have put him in a world role, but Mr. Rockefeller thought he'd sit it out in Albany instead where he could pick up some national options inside his own party.

SO HISTORY CAME and went and "The Rock," as his insiders call him out of his hearing, is on the trail — on a slow bus. He still believes he can scoop up the nomination, especially if he can swing the Ohio delegation, among others.

So he eschews public imagery for private persuasion, avoids meeting with Negro leaders, with ethnic spokesmen or with the scores of labor leaders who are ready to declare for him.

Labor, too, is being asked to cool it. On Monday, May 13, the Governor's self-effacing, soft-spoken labor advisor, Victor Borella, invited a handful of labor strategists to a quiet dinner in a private dining room of the Tower Suite.

Mr. Rockefeller's labor strength was analyzed. It is strong, indeed. It would be powerful if Bob Kennedy were nominated. But their reading is a Hubert Humphrey victory at the Democratic convention. Mr. Johnson would see to that.

However ...en if it is Mr. Humphrey, a considera... ...ber of important labor leaders will opt fo... ... Rockefeller if he is the GOP candidate.

DAVID LAWRENCE

RFK's Strength

Sen. Robert F. Kennedy is by no means eliminated from the contest for the Democratic presidential nomination just because he didn't win a three-cornered primary race in Oregon. He is considered a strong contender for the 174 delegate votes in California being chosen in today's primary.

He also has a powerful organization working for him to corral New York's 190 votes at the primay June 18 and at the subsequent state convention. A large slice of the 364 votes from the two most populous states can be much more important than Oregon's 35 votes.

There are only 11 states with presidential-primary systems. What will really count in the national convention this year is the attitude of the delegates from the other 39 states.

It might be argued that a preponderant number of delegates is bound to be influenced by results in the few states with presidential primaries. But political history doesn't always bear this out.

THE SITUATION would have been much clearer if Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy had not made such a spectacular showing and if Vice President Hubert Humphrey had been able to enter the primaries earlier instead of being required at a later date to rely on write-in's.

No one of the Democratic aspirants has had a clear majority in all of the primaries. Pluralities here and there are not conclusive.

Former vice president Richard Nixon, on the other hand, has won substantial majorities in his primary campaigns, and the delegates in other states have been impressed by his performance.

Even in the Republican race, however, Gov. Nelson Rockefeller of New York cannot be written off. For the nomination will be decided by the huge number of delegates from states which do not have primaries.

The campaigns in a few states thus far have, to a certain extent, familiarized the voters with the personalities of each candidate, but it can hardly be said that delegates will be persuaded to select someone merely because he draws crowds.

IT IS NOT LIKELY, moreover, that the delegates will be converted to a candidate just because he has a large following among the young people. For experience has shown that the bulk of the voters are 30 years of age or over, and they go to the polls in big numbers on election day.

If Vice President Humphrey gets the Democratic nomination, he will, of course, have the support of President Johnson and Sen. McCarthy and presumably Sen. Kennedy.

It is an open secret that Mr. Johnson is deeply interested in seeing Mr. Humphrey nominated, and the convention delegates are well aware of what the administration's influence can be in their respective states.

This, on the other hand, will be countered by the inroads into state and city organizations which the Kennedy family has successfully achieved in past campaign years.

The penetration began with a comprehensive survey and study made before the 1956 convention indicating how attractive John F. Kennedy would be to Catholic voters, and it had a bearing on the pre-convention contest in 1960 as well.

Many members of Congress, incidentally, are assuming that Vice President Humphrey and former vice president Nixon will be facing each other in the finals of the presidential race — a contest between two men of experience in the national government.

MR. HUMPHREY would defend the Johnson administration and praise its record. Mr. Nixon would endeavor to mobilize the negative sentiment of the country on such issues as Vietnam, crime, riots, the ill effects of inflation, the uncertain position of the dollar, and the adverse impact of high interest rates on the national economy.

Much could happen between now and November that might have more effect on the outcome than anything foreseen at present.

A crisis in the gold situation, a setback in world trade due to unsettled conditions in France and Central Europe, and a possible increase in the cost of the Vietnam War if peace negotiations collapse could retard the progress of American business.

This would cut down the revenues expected by the administration to be collected from the new tax legislation. An election in the midst of a business recession isn't likely to go well for the party in power.

Now scientists at the University of California have reported strong evidence that human cancers can be inherited.

Surprisingly, their findings support a theory advanced 66 years ago by a German embryologist, Theodor Boveri, who believed that a chromosome imbalance leads to cancer.

The American investigators report their studies show an over-abundance of the chromosome the E-16 chromosome plays a key role in nor-human cells as compared with normal human cells.

Dr. John W. Gofman, principal investigator, says: "We believe a specific chromosomal imbalance is strongly associated with malignant proliferation of human cells."

The California scientists have observed that the E-16 chromosome plays a key role in normal cell production as tissues grow. Chromosomes are packets of genes, life's hereditary units, and they occur in every cell. The number of chromosomes in huma cancer cells usually is higher than in normal cells.

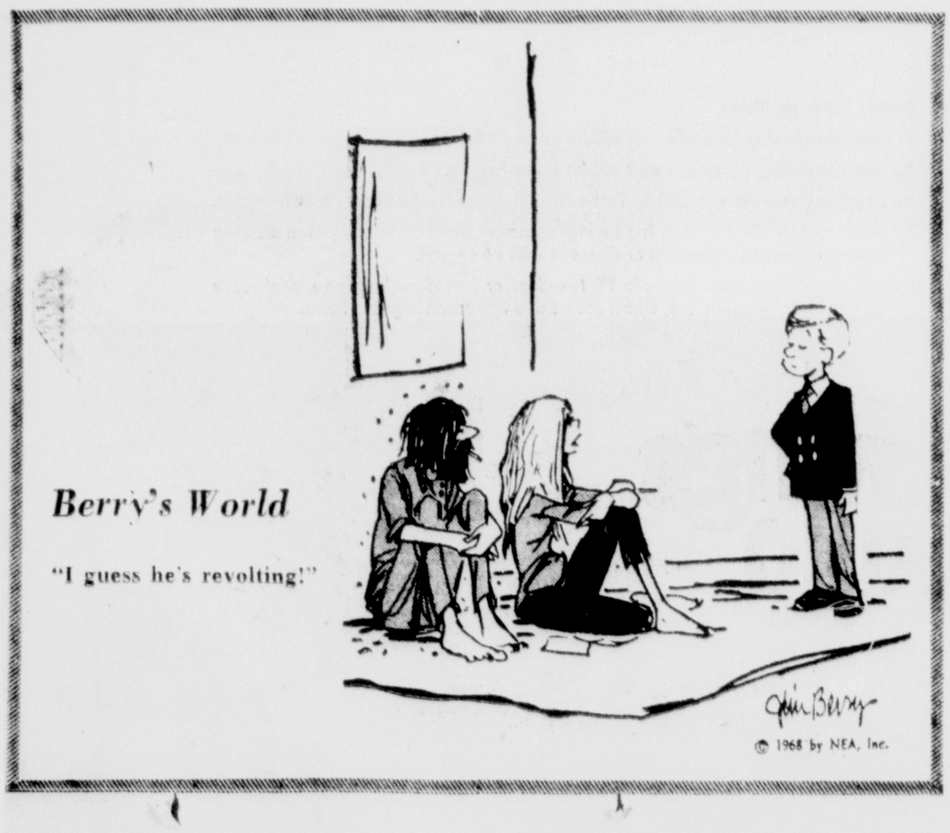

Just what medical science can and will do with this new information, if it is proved conclusively, remains to be seen. But if it is proved to be fact, it will be one more example of how basic research pays off in benefits to mankind.

Thoughts

Allah is the Arabic name for the Supreme Being of Islam, the religion founded by Mohammed. The name denotes the Supreme Being in the Koran, which is the Moslems' "Bible," and Moslems must regularly repeat the creed: "There is no god but Allah, and Mohammed is the Apostle of Allah."

At the beginning of this century, automobile speeders in the U.S. were called "scorchers," and a scorcher in New York City was any motorist who exceeded eight miles an hour.

The brightest star that we see in the heavens, with the exception of the sun, is Sirius, the "Dog Star," in the constellation Canis Major. Sirius is really about 27 times brighter than the sun, but is about nine light years away from us.

Measure Of History

A Ronnie Rouser

By Art Buchwald

WASHINGTON — No one has heard from the Little Old Lady in Tennis Shoes this election year, although in 1964 she was Barry Goldwater's staunchest supporter and was quoted constantly during the entire campaign.

Art Buchwald

I was fortunate to run into her the other day on the street. Except for the fact she looked a little grayer and her shoes were a little more scuffed, she had changed little during Lyndon Johnson's years in office.

"Hello, Little Old Lady in Tennis Shoes," I said. "It's good to see you again."

"You say that every four years, but you never come to see me when there aren't any elections going on."

"I'M SORRY," I apologized, "but I've been awfully busy covering President Johnson."

"I'll bet you have," she cackled. "You all laughed at me in 1964, but in your heart you know I was right."

"Tell me, Little Old Lady in Tennis Shoes, what have you been doing for the past four years?"

"Perfecting my serve. When my man lost, I went back to tennis. I've never played better. You got time for a couple of sets? I've got my racket in my shopping bag here."

"Thank you, but I really don't have time to play now."

"Too bad. I could whip the pants off you."

"I know this is a personal question, but who are all the little old ladies in tennis shoes supporting this year?"

"Well, that Ronald Reagan seems like such a nice young man. He's no Barry Goldwater when it comes to thinking, but he dresses so neatly, and he's got such a sincere quality in his voice. I even liked him before he went into politics."

"You had to like him, then," I said.

"Reagan stands for God, home and country," she said, swinging her tennis racket for emphasis. "He believes in the American virtues that all of us hold dear."

"HOW DO YOU FEEL about Rockefeller?"

"That socialist? Do you know he tried to steal the nomination away from Barry Goldwater in 1964? He would have, if we hadn't booed him at the convention."

"Was that you tennis ladies booing Rockefeller?"

"Well, it wasn't Happy," she chuckled as she hit a tennis ball across the street.

"How do you feel about Nixon?"

She paused in the middle of a swing. "Old Tricky Dicky. We tennis shoe people liked old Dick Nixon. The new Nixon gets on our nerves. If we have to go that route we will, but it's the last time."

"You wouldn't consider supporting a Democrat, would you?"

"You must be kidding," she said. "I wouldn't even play one doubles."

"It's that bad, huh?"

"Look, sonny, we little old ladies in tennis shoes have very high standards. We're not going to throw our vote away on leftist, pinko, deficit spenders who want to fluoridate our drinking water. You sure you don't have time for one set?"

"I wish I did," I said regretfully, "but I have to get back to the office."

SHE PUT HER tennis racket back in her shopping bag. "Too bad," she said. "I've really perfected my backhand."

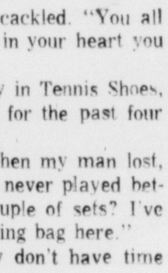

"I guess I'll see you at the Republican convention."

"You bet your sweet life you will, sonny," she said, jumping over an imaginery net to shake my hand. "And this time we're going to give it to Rockefeller good. Those Eastern Establishment socialists just never learn."

VICTOR RIESEL

Rocky's Backers Impatient

NEW YORK — Nelson Rockefeller's top strategists have been holding a series of soothe-ins. Some of his most voluble, knowledgeable, and financial people have been complaining that the Governor is running like an empty brook.

Victor Riesel

But the message these intimate sessions — one in the sky-high Tower Suite and another at the more proletarian Overseas Press Club — has been to cool it, don't rock the boat, wait for Dick Nixon to make a mistake, stay "fluid and flexible," but get ready to tool up after the national nominating convention if lightning strikes.

At a guarded session last Monday night, some of Mr. Rockefeller's top 50 policy makers on the political, industrial and labor fronts actually asked Bob Douglas, one of his executive suite chaps, if "Nelson plans to pull out again."

The answer, which did little to revive the dispirited political ensemble, was that the Governor is in for the duration, and that Dick Nixon does not have it sewn up because only 15 per cent of the '64 convention delegates will be repeaters this year in Miami.

THAT FIGURE is a little too low. Actually it will run about 20 per cent, according to one who has counted virtually every nose in every state.

After the breakup of the soothe-in, some of Mr. Rockefeller's most intimate associates talked of his disastrous about-face some months ago when he decided not to run. They explained it was mostly prompted by his deep friendship for Lyndon Johnson.

Few realize how close they are and have been ever since 1965. It was on Jan. 19 of that year, the eve of the inauguration, that an effervescent Lyndon Johnson swept into the Governor's reception at the Sheraton. He moved almost hydraulically towards the box of Nelson and Happy Rockefeller, embraced the Governor and then with the noisy gaiety of the basement hall drowning out his words, thanked "Nelson" for his help in the campaign. Mr. Rockefeller had not backed Barry Goldwater that season.

And there still is another untold story of that era. President Johnson offered the New York Governor a post which would have put him in a world role, but Mr. Rockefeller thought he'd sit it out in Albany instead where he could pick up some national options inside his own party.

SO HISTORY CAME and went and "The Rock," as his insiders call him out of his hearing, is on the trail — on a slow bus. He still believes he can scoop up the nomination, especially if he can swing the Ohio delegation, among others.

So he eschews public imagery for private persuasion, avoids meeting with Negro leaders, with ethnic spokesmen or with the scores of labor leaders who are ready to declare for him.

Labor, too, is being asked to cool it. On Monday, May 13, the Governor's self-effacing, soft-spoken labor advisor, Victor Borella, invited a handful of labor strategists to a quiet dinner in a private dining room of the Tower Suite.

Mr. Rockefeller's labor strength was analyzed. It is strong, indeed. It would be powerful if Bob Kennedy were nominated. But their reading is a Hubert Humphrey victory at the Democratic convention. Mr. Johnson would see to that.

However, even if it is Mr. Humphrey, a considerable number of important labor leaders will opt for ... Rockefeller if he is the GOP candidate.

DAVID LAWRENCE

RFK's Strength

Sen. Robert F. Kennedy is by no means eliminated from the contest for the Democratic presidential nomination just because he didn't win a three-cornered primary race in Oregon. He is considered a strong contender for the 174 delegate votes in California being chosen in today's primary.

He also has a powerful organization working for him to corral New York's 190 votes at the primay June 18 and at the subsequent state convention. A large slice of the 364 votes from the two most populous states can be much more important than Oregon's 35 votes.

There are only 11 states with presidential-primary systems. What will really count in the national convention this year is the attitude of the delegates from the other 39 states.

It might be argued that a preponderant number of delegates is bound to be influenced by results in the few states with presidential primaries. But political history doesn't always bear this out.

THE SITUATION would have been much clearer if Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy had not made such a spectacular showing and if Vice President Hubert Humphrey had been able to enter the primaries earlier instead of being required at a later date to rely on write-in's.

No one of the Democratic aspirants has had a clear majority in all of the primaries. Pluralities here and there are not conclusive.

Former vice president Richard Nixon, on the other hand, has won substantial majorities in his primary campaigns, and the delegates in other states have been impressed by his performance.

Even in the Republican race, however, Gov. Nelson Rockefeller of New York cannot be written off. For the nomination will be decided by the huge number of delegates from states which do not have primaries.

The campaigns in a few states thus far have, to a certain extent, familiarized the voters with the personalities of each candidate, but it can hardly be said that delegates will be persuaded to select someone merely because he draws crowds.

IT IS NOT LIKELY, moreover, that the delegates will be converted to a candidate just because he has a large following among the young people. For experience has shown that the bulk of the voters are 30 years of age or over, and they go to the polls in big numbers on election day.

If Vice President Humphrey gets the Democratic nomination, he will, of course, have the support of President Johnson and Sen. McCarthy and presumably Sen. Kennedy.

It is an open secret that Mr. Johnson is deeply interested in seeing Mr. Humphrey nominated, and the convention delegates are well aware of what the administration's influence can be in their respective states.

This, on the other hand, will be countered by the inroads into state and city organizations which the Kennedy family has successfully achieved in past campaign years.

The penetration began with a comprehensive survey and study made before the 1956 convention indicating how attractive John F. Kennedy would be to Catholic voters, and it had a bearing on the pre-convention contest in 1960 as well.

Many members of Congress, incidentally, are assuming that Vice President Humphrey and former vice president Nixon will be facing each other in the finals of the presidential race — a contest between two men of experience in the national government.

MR. HUMPHREY would defend the Johnson administration and praise its record. Mr. Nixon would endeavor to mobilize the negative sentiment of the country on such issues as Vietnam, crime, riots, the ill effects of inflation, the uncertain position of the dollar, and the adverse impact of high interest rates on the national economy.

Much could happen between now and November that might have more effect on the outcome than anything foreseen at present.

A crisis in the gold situation, a setback in world trade due to unsettled conditions in France and Central Europe, and a possible increase in the cost of the Vietnam War if peace negotiations collapse could retard the progress of American business.

This would cut down the revenues expected by the administration to be collected from the new tax legislation. An election in the midst of a business recession isn't likely to go well for the party in power.

Police Probe More Thefts

More minor thefts were reported to police Monday, close on the heels of a long list of petty larceny complaints filed over the weekend.

Three more of the minor thefts, as well as two vandalism incidents, were reported to police yesterday.

Frank Gulutz of 426 Thompson Ave. reported to police Monday afternoon a thief broke into his travel trailer sometime in the preceding two weeks while it was parked on an East End lot. A water pressure cap was stolen and an outside water heater and the water supply hose were disconnected, he said.

Robert Chetwynd of 915 Bank St., a Post Office employe, told officers yesterday afternoon a young boy climbed into his truck and stole a pocket watch valued at $5 while he was delivering parcel post packages in the 1700 block of Globe St. Chetwynd said the missing watch was his personal property. He said he could not determine immediately if anything else was missing or disturbed.

R. J. McGrew told officers Monday four sacks of cement were stolen Friday from the McGrew Awning Co. on W. 8th St., which he operates. He said he was uncertain whether some concrete blocks were stolen also.

Meanwhile, a custodian at Taft School told officers yesterday two 47-x-15-inch windows were broken at the school by vandals over the weekend.

some three hours after he was admitted and before X-rayes were taken. There was no autopsy.

The only eyewitness to testify yesterday was Lt. Paul A. Burson of the Police Department, who said he was on the diamond at 2:28 a. m. March 17 and "heard voices coming from Dresden Ave. near Green Ln."

He said he looked toward the spot, about 200 feet away," and saw two men and a woman standing close to each other." "I saw a man whose back was toward me hit the other man, who fell backward onto the pavement."

"I took off toward them," the lieutenant said, and by the time I got there the man had looked at the woman, then looked down at the other man."

The officer said he cannot recall seeing the victim raise his arms or strike a blow. Bernard Fineman of East Liverpool, defense counsel, said in his opening statement that the evidence will show Charnock acted in self - defense.

Lt. Burson said Mr. Leigh was lying face up on the concrete pavement, blood coming from his nose and mouth. "I called for someone to get an ambulance — a crowd was beginning to form, the bars had just let out."

Lt. Burson said Patrolman Stroble took Mr. Charnock and the woman — Lucy Virginia Leigh, the victim's wife—to the police station. Police said Charnock lived at 418 E. 4th St. (rear) and Mrs. Leigh had an apartment in the same building.

The witness said he went to City Hospital before 3 a. m. and Mr. Leigh recognized him and said, "I will be all right."

On the jury sworn in Monday by Judge Joel H. Sharp are Eleanor Bashaw, Dwight Hickman and Margaret Clutter, East Liverpool; Elaine Bergman, Paul Kissinger, Mildred Schuster, Ida Meissner and Kenneth Herold, Salem; Ralph Gongaware, Beloit; Evelyn Morris, Columbiana; Dorothy Dickey, New Waterford, and Mary Trautman, East Palestine. City Receives Revised Plan On Lisbon St.

Mayor George E. Willshaw has received a copy of the Ohio Highway Department's set of final plans for the $300,000 improvement of Lisbon St. (State Route 267) between W. 8th St. and the city limits.

As soon as the revised plans are approved by municipal officials and various branches of the highway department, the way will be clear for the state to advertise for bids on the project, the mayor explained.

The plans were prepared by Glaus, Pyle and Schomer of Youngstown, a consulting engineering firm. They were studied minutely at a so-called "field and office check" here about two months ago — a prelude to making the last revisions before the drawings were placed in final form.

The work calls for widening the street, resurfacing and easing some of the sharp curves on the hill between West End and Pleasant Heights.

The cost originally was pegged at $250,000, then raised to $300,000. But the city's share remained at $45,000, despite the boost in the estimate. The municipality's share already has been available, the mayor pointed out.

The detailed plans and specifications cover 62 pages. The cover page contains spaces for signatures of city officials and heads of various departments and branches of the highway department, including Levi Kimball, head of the Division 11 office in New Philadelphia.

Police Probe More Thefts

More minor thefts were reported to police Monday, close on the heels of a long list of petty larceny complaints filed over the weekend.

Three more of the minor thefts, as well as two vandalism incidents, were reported to police yesterday.

Frank Gulutz of 426 Thompson Ave. reported to police Monday afternoon a thief broke into his travel trailer sometime in the preceding two weeks while it was parked on an East End lot. A water pressure cap was stolen and an outside water heater and the water supply hose were disconnected, he said.

Robert Chetwynd of 915 Bank St., a Post Office employe, told officers yesterday afternoon a young boy climbed into his truck and stole a pocket watch valued at $5 while he was delivering parcel post packages in the 1700 block of Globe St. Chetwynd said the missing watch was his personal property. He said he could not determine immediately if anything else was missing or disturbed.

R. J. McGrew told officers Monday four sacks of cement were stolen Friday from the McGrew Awning Co. on W. 8th St., which he operates. He said he was uncertain whether some concrete blocks were stolen also.

Meanwhile, a custodian at Taft School told officers yesterday two 47-x-15-inch windows were broken at the school by vandals over the weekend.

A vandal broke the radio antenna off an auto owned by Miss Jane McKeever Saturday or Sunday while the car was parked at her mother's home at 646 Minerva St., police were told Monday.

some three hours after he was admitted and before X-rayes were taken. There was no autopsy.

The only eyewitness to testify yesterday was Lt. Paul A. Burson of the Police Department, who said he was on the diamond at 2:28 a. m. March 17 and "heard voices coming from Dresden Ave. near Green Ln."

He said he looked toward the spot, about 200 feet away," and saw two men and a woman standing close to each other." "I saw a man whose back was toward me hit the other man, who fell backward onto the pavement."

"I took off toward them," the lieutenant said, and by the time I got there the man had looked at the woman, then looked down at the other man."

The officer said he cannot recall seeing the victim raise his arms or strike a blow. Bernard Fineman of East Liverpool, defense counsel, said in his opening statement that the evidence will show Charnock acted in self - defense.

Lt. Burson said Mr. Leigh was lying face up on the concrete pavement, blood coming from his nose and mouth. "I called for someone to get an ambulance — a crowd was beginning to form, the bars had just let out."

Lt. Burson said Patrolman Stroble took Mr. Charnock and the woman — Lucy Virginia Leigh, the victim's wife—to the police station. Police said Charnock lived at 418 E. 4th St. (rear) and Mrs. Leigh had an apartment in the same building.

The witness said he went to City Hospital before 3 a. m. and Mr. Leigh recognized him and said, "I will be all right."

On the jury sworn in Monday by Judge Joel H. Sharp are Eleanor Bashaw, Dwight Hickman and Margaret Clutter, East Liverpool; Elaine Bergman, Paul Kissinger, Mildred Schuster, Ida Meissner and Kenneth Herold, Salem; Ralph Gongaware, Beloit; Evelyn Morris, Columbiana; Dorothy Dickey, New Waterford, and Mary Trautman, East Palestine. Betty Jurjazcic, East Palestine, is the alternate.

Suggs sad top winds near the eye of the storm were measured at 60 miles an hour. Although the storm was stationary, the forecaster said hurricane precautions should not be relaxed and warned of high tides and the possibility of an isolated tornado over the central portion of Florida.

City Receives Revised Plan On Lisbon St.

Mayor George E. Willshaw has received a copy of the Ohio Highway Department's set of final plans for the $300,000 improvement of Lisbon St. (State Route 267) between W. 8th St. and the city limits.

As soon as the revised plans are approved by municipal officials and various branches of the highway department, the way will be clear for the state to advertise for bids on the project, the mayor explained.

The plans were prepared by Glaus, Pyle and Schomer of Youngstown, a consulting engineering firm. They were studied minutely at a so-called "field and office check" here about two months ago — a prelude to making the last revisions before the drawings were placed in final form.

The work calls for widening the street, resurfacing and easing some of the sharp curves on the hill between West End and Pleasant Heights.

The cost originally was pegged at $250,000, then raised to $300,000. But the city's share remained at $45,000, despite the boost in the estimate. The municipality's share already has been available, the mayor pointed out.

The detailed plans and specifications cover 62 pages. The cover page contains spaces for signatures of city officials and heads of various departments and branches of the highway department, including Levi Kimball, head of the Division 11 office in New Philadelphia.

As an indication of the serious view the Saigon government took of the situation in the capital, it today appointed a major general, Nguyen Van Minh, to direct the defense of the capital military district. This had been one of the duties of the commander of the 3rd military corps area, which also includes the 11 provinces around Saigon, and he delegated day-to-day operations in the city to a colonel.

Clues Are Lacking In Theft At Church

LISBON — Chief of Police Leon T. Zahrndt said he has no clues to the identity of three boys who, circumstances indicate, stole the Methodist Church collection Sunday noon.

The Rev. Frederick Shiltz said the amount taken was probably close to $600. The May 5 collection was $595, he said, and the attendance Sunday was greater than on May 5. He explained that the first Sunday collection is the largest of the month.

Zahrndt said he doubts the money was taken by local residents. People who saw them did not recognize them, he explained.

If you like to keep pine nuts on hand for use in various dishes, put them in a tightly closed jar and store them in the refrigerator. If stored for any length of time at room temperature, they'll stale.

Costs Mount In Auto Case

Virgil Davis of 1252 Hague Ave. was confronted in Municipal Court today with a new bill for $165 in the costly case that began Friday when he acquired a used car for $235.

Davis, facing Judge Samuel M. Chertoff on a charge of knowingly permitting an unlicensed driver to operate his car, was granted a continuance until June 11 to make arrangements to pay the $165 damages to doors on a garage in Diamond Alley owned by the Golden Star Dairy Co. His $107.50 bond was continued.

Davis explained to the court today that since he had no license he asked James A. Lyons, 18, of Massillon to take the car home for him Saturday afternoon. But Lyons backed the auto in Diamond Alley near Peach Alley to grant the right-of-way to another car, striking the garage doors.

Lyons was cited on a charge of driving without a license. He forfeited a $32.50 bond Monday in Municipal Court. Davis insisted to the judge today that Lyons told him he had a license.

Meanwhile, Gene Zanders, 18, of 1064 Maple St. was fined $25 and costs on a charge of failure to stop in the assured clear distance. He was cited by police after a traffic mishap Monday night on E. 5th St.

Emma Thomas Minet, 65, of Toronto was fined $15 and costs on an Ohio Highway Patrol charge of speeding 65 miles an hour in a 50-mile zone. She was cited Saturday at 1:12 a.m. on Route 7.

Joseph Clement Jr., 34, of S. Hollywood Dr. was fined $15 and costs on a charge of speeding 50 miles an hour in a 35-mile zone on Route 7. He was cited by the patrol May 28. Clement failed to appear for a hearing Monday and his $17.50 appearance bond was forfeited. The court then issued a warrant for his arrest. He was ordered to pay the fine in addition to the forfeited bond.

Hancock Board Given School Survey Report

NEW CUMBERLAND — Recommendations for improvement in leadership, follow up programs and retention of qualified personnel were listed in the final oral report of a Battelle Institute survey of Hancock County schools given Monday night to the county Board of Education.

Presenting the report were Horace W. Ray, project director for the Battelle, and Harold Armstrong of the school management institute, one of the professionals employed by Battelle during the year - long study.

Approved last June by the Board of Education at cost of $55,000, the study was to obtain a clear definition on the progress the system was making and what was needed to upgrade it.

Monday night Ray and Armstrong presented an outline of the completed survey which contained conclusions and recommendations based on the year-long project. They said this rough draft would be amplified in a final written report to be submitted at the end of the month.

Main points of criticisms were aimed at two areas. They included lack of adequate leadership and lack of follow up on many programs that have been initiated. Recommendations also were suggested in such fields as equipment, retention of qualified school personnel and custodial and maintenance services, training and evaluation programs for both the administrative and teaching personnel.

The report pointed out the present special education classes are not adequate. Recommendations were also made concerning the improvement and services in the lower grades.

Recommendations were made for the improvement of both the math and science programs. The educational television program at Weir High were commended.

Also commended was the system's elementary program, although suggestions for refinement were offered. This also was true of the reading program which was also commended.

Although the board was commended for adoption of a proposed reorganization of the administrative section, it was also criticized in certain aspects dealing with planning, organization and communications.

Recommendations also were advanced concerning the procedure used in preparing the budget.

Struggle For Michigan Delegation

Humphrey 'Soaking Up' Non-Primary State Votes

While public attention is focused on the presidential primaries, the campaign is being fought with equal intensity in nonprimary states. Here's a report on the struggle for a key delegation, the 96 votes of Michigan.

By DICK BARNES
Associated Press Writer

DETROIT (AP) — Hubert H. Humphrey's strength in the Michigan delegation typifies how and why the vice president is soaking up votes from nonprimary election states for the Democratic presidential nomination.

Old time loyalties, party regularity, a delegate selection system not particularly attuned to public opinion and concern by some blocs with their party position combined almost inevitably for Humphrey in Michigan.

The delegation picked last weekend at an organization-dominated state Democratic convention is nominally uncommitted. But 60 or more of the state's 96 votes lean to Humphrey in varying degrees. Sen. Robert F. Kennedy appears to have most or the others except for two or perhaps three aligned with Sen. Eugene McCarthy.

State Chairman Sander Levin successfully imposed for two months a rule that principal Democrats keep quiet about their preferences. He sought to avoid fratricide in a party badly damaged by the Republican sweep of 1966.

Now he has lifted the ban and the Humphrey camp is pushing for individual delegates to declare their choices, hoping to create a bandwagon which might attract some waverers.

Kennedy forces contend that half the delegation leans toward the New York senator. But they refuse to say even generally where their support lies.

"We know they (Humphrey people) are making a lot of false assumptions and we don't want to pinpoint them," said William H. Merrill, Michigan chairman of Citizens for Kennedy.

The Kennedy camp is pressing for continuation of the uncommitted stance, hoping to change some minds before delegate preferences are publicized.

A Humphrey staffer conceded that "our problem is hanging on to what we've got."

The delegation was to meet Sunday night amidst the possibility that an immediate preference ballot would be taken. But fatigue set in from the dragged out convention and the meeting was put off until late this week or early next—when delegates will know results of the California primary.

Hirings OK'd For Hancock

The employment of three deputy sheriffs on a temporary basis for the summer was approved by the Hancock County Court of Commissioners at a meeting Monday.

The three will work inside the office and a bond will not be required, since they will not handle money or carry guns. Those appointed are Thomas J. Rodak, Clayton Jennings and Robert J. Billcheck, all of Weirton.

Also approved for temporary employment in the tax office were Linda L. Cortez, Antonette Battista, Martha J. Boyles, Carrie Lynn Newbrough and Nancy Cline.

The court agreed to instruct the architect to prepare specifications for bids for the jail equipment and for finishing of the jail construction. This will be presented at the July meeting.

Permission was granted to Circuit Court Clerk Dan Grossi, County Clerk George Konchar and two other representatives from his office to attend the meeting of the county and circuit clerks at Fairmont June 12-15.

Sheriff Joe Rodak's request for permission to advertise for a new cruiser was approved.

The court approved the designation of the following banks to be used as depositories for county funds: Bank of Weirton, Peoples Bank, Citizens Bank and the First National Bank of Weirton.

Local Man Fined $10 On Charge Of Assault

Robert Higgins of Dresden Ave. was fined $10 and costs today in Municipal Court on a charge of assault and battery May 16 on Tommy Hall at the Buckeye Tavern on Dresden Ave.

Higgins pleaded guilty to the count before Judge Samuel M. Chertoff. The complaining witness did not appear.

Meanwhile, the court set a hearing June 11 for Jean Henderson of Lincoln Ave. on a charge of assault and battery May 24, 1967, on Faye Uselton. The hearing was continued to attempt to arrange the appearance of the complaining witness. The defendant was released on her own recognizance.

Officers Cite Young Driver After Mishap

An 18-year-old motorist was cited by police after a two-car crash Monday night at 7:20 on E. 5th St. near Walnut St.

Gene Zanders of 1064 Maple St. was charged with failure to stop in the assured clear distance after his 1959 sedan hit the rear of a halted 1964 sedan operated by Josephine L. Mattern, 19, of 910 Railroad St.

Zanders told police he was driving west on E. 5th St. and approaching the traffic light at Walnut St. when his brakes failed, causing his car to hit the Mattern auto from behind. He estimated his speed at 30 miles an hour.

JoAnn Edgell, 18, of 3184 Andrews St., a passenger in the Mattern auto, went to City Hospital about 9:30 p. m. for treatment of injuries suffered in the mishap, police said. She was treated and released.

The crash damaged the trunk, chrome on the deck lid and the rear bumper of the Mattern car and the front bumper, hood and left front fender of the Zanders auto.

An auto and a truck were damaged in a similar mishap Monday at 3:44 p.m. on W. 3rd St. at Jefferson St., officers said.

The collision involved a 1965 sedan driven by Pamela G. Sachs, 17, of Highland Dr. and a 1963 model truck operated by Charles L. Gorey, 32, of Rogers RD 1.

The young woman told police she was halted for a traffic light when her auto was hit from the rear. The collision damaged the left tail light, left rear fender and bumper of the auto and the left front of the truck.

Senate Group Due To Give Westmoreland Quick Okay

WASHINGTON (AP) — Quick approval by the Senate Armed Services Committee seemed promised for President Johnson's nomination of Gen. William C. Westmoreland to become Army chief of staff.

Westmoreland, newly returned from his post as U.S. commander in Vietnam, was to appear before the committee today. A closed session immediately afterward was scheduled for approval of the nomination.

Sen. Stephen M. Young D-Ohio, a vigorous critic of the war on the committee, led an unsuccessful Senate fight Monday against extension of Gen. Earle G. Wheeler's term as chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff.

Young picked up support from only Sen. Lee Metcalf, D-Mont., as the Senate voted 52 to 2 to send to the President the measure permitting Wheeler to serve until July 1969 in the post he has held since July 1964. Separate action will be required when the President formally nominates Wheeler for reappointment.

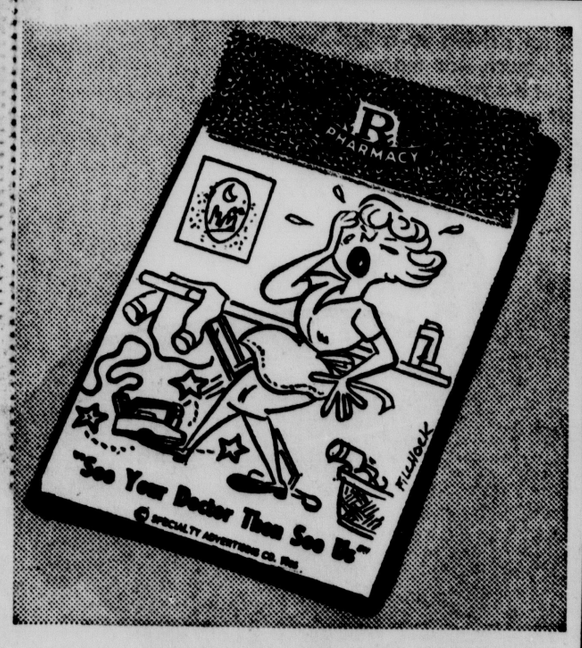

Johnson requested the extension for Wheeler because of the newness to the Pentagon of Secretary of Defense Clark M. Clifford.

Westmoreland is due to take over the top Army post on July 2 from Gen. Harold K. Johnson, who is retiring after four years as chief of staff. Westmoreland's successor in Vietnam is Gen. Creighton Abrams.

Gene Zanders of 1064 Maple St. was charged with failure to stop in the assured clear distance after his 1959 sedan hit the rear of a halted 1964 sedan operated by Josephine L. Mattern, 19, of 910 Railroad St.

Zanders told police he was driving west on E. 5th St. and approaching the traffic light at Walnut St. when his brakes failed, causing his car to hit the Mattern auto from behind. He estimated his speed at 30 miles an hour.

JoAnn Edgell, 18, of 3184 Andrews St., a passenger in the Mattern auto, went to City Hospital about 9:30 p. m. for treatment of injuries suffered in the mishap, police said. She was treated and released.

The crash damaged the trunk, chrome on the deck lid and the rear bumper of the Mattern car and the front bumper, hood and left front fender of the Zanders auto.

An auto and a truck were damaged in a similar mishap Monday at 3:44 p.m. on W. 3rd St. at Jefferson St., officers said.

The collision involved a 1965 sedan driven by Pamela G. Sachs, 17, of Highland Dr. and a 1963 model truck operated by Charles L. Gorey, 32, of Rogers RD 1.

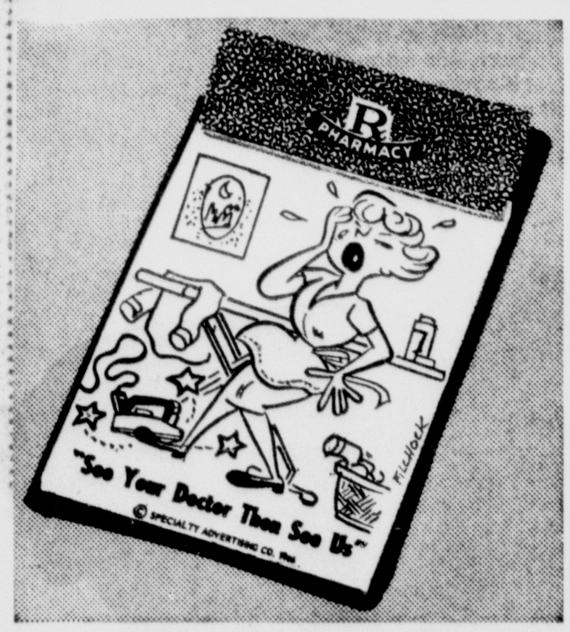

The young woman told police she was halted for a traffic light when her auto was hit from the rear. The collision damaged the left tail light, left rear fender and bumper of the auto and the left front of the truck.

Lower In Western Europe

Steady Troop Strength In Viet Seen U.S. Plan

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Johnson administration is assuring Congress that plans call for U.S. troop strength to be held steady in Vietnam and lowered in Western Europe.

Both questions have been major foreign-policy issues on Capitol Hill.

A recent White House meeting of congressional leaders was told there are no plans for increasing the number of troops in Vietnam beyond the present authorization of 550,000 men.

Secretary of Defense Clark M. Clifford told the group he is determined to fulfill his pledge that South Vietnamese forces take back once again more of the responsibility for fighting the war.

In other public and private discussions, Clifford has talked of the eventual withdrawal of big numbers of U.S. military men stationed in Western Europe.

There have been continuing calls for this move from several members of Congress, including Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield.

The administration has set no timetable for any cutbacks in U.S. forces in Europe, but for Clifford merely to talk about them is highly welcome to many Congress members.

Some have complained that the maintenance of 300,000 U.S. troops and their dependents as part of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization force has been a major aggravation to the balance-of-payments problem.

Others, such as Mansfield, hold that the present policy is based on post-World War II conditions that no longer exist.

Clifford recently told the Senate Foreign Relations Committee he had informed other NATO member nations they could not expect an indefinite U.S. presence of the current size in Western Europe.

The administration outlook on Vietnam and NATO apparently is soothing the war critics—at least to a degree. And their public opposition to Johnson's Vietnam policies has fallen off markedly since the Paris peace efforts began.

Only the most unrelenting opponents of the Vietnam war, such as Sen. Stephen M. Young, D-Ohio, have continued their protests on the Senate floor since the Paris talks began.

Police Protest Rome Students Resuming Exams

ROME (AP) — A handful of students returned to Rome University under police protection today to resume final examinations after the caribinieri cleared out some 2,000 rebellious leftists who occupied the campus for three days.

The university's end-of-semester routine had been disrupted by the student occupation and by clashes between the left-wing students who seized the university buildings and moderate and right-wing students who opposed them.

Summoned by the university administration, hundreds of police cut through the chained gates and crashed through the rebels' barricades Monday. The leftists, who had hoisted red Communist and black anarchist flags over the university, faded away.

It was the second time since March that school authorities had called police to drive out rebellious students.

Their decision came after a fierce battle between the rival student groups in which 10 were injured and 53 taken in custody.

The new student outburst occurred amid a growing political crisis in Italy. The center-left coalition that has governed the country for five years collapsed last Saturday as a result of a Socialist setback at the polls.

Political observers foresee a long and difficult road before a new and stable government can be formed after Parliament convenes Wednesday.

More than 138 million persons spent some $14 billion in foreign travel in 1967.

St. Clair Sets Roads' Oiling

Arrangements for road oiling were made during a meeting of the St. Clair Township trustees Monday.

Snyder said the cost would be 13 cents per foot for 16-foot-wide running strips and 9 cents per foot for 12-foot-wide strips. The township will pay one cent per running foot where oil is applied to township roads, Fred Hopper, president, announced.

In other business, the trustees contracted the Don Swartz Trucking Co. of Wellsburg, W. Va., to haul 600 tons of slag for the summer road program..

Hopper reported the patching of blacktopped roads should be completed within the next two weeks.

The trustees paid bills totaling $490.

Strengthens Enemies, Pollock Says

Split Of UAW, AFL-CIO Seen As Blow To Labor

WASHINGTON (AP) — A fellow union president says Walter Reuther hurt the labor movement in a critical election year by splitting his United Auto Workers from the AFL-CIO.

"This serves only to strengthen the hands of the enemies of labor," said William Pollock, president of the 200,000-member AFL-CIO Textile Workers Union of America.

Pollock's union backs Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey for the Democratic presidential nomination. The Auto Workers have declined to endorse any candidate although Reuther reportedly leans toward Sen. Robert F. Kennedy.

Reuther's 1.6 million-member UAW, largest of the AFL-CIO's 128 unions, was suspended by AFL-CIO President George Meany last month under an automatic provision of the federation's constitution for refusing to pay dues.

Pollock, the second union chief to criticize Reuther publicly, said, "You can't build and strengthen the labor movement by dividing it."

P. L. (Roy) Siemiller, president of the million-strong AFL-CIO International Association of Machinists, earlier voiced similar criticism of Reuther.

Pollock said Reuther's split in a leadership dispute with Meany will also weaken labor's efforts to organize more workers in the South, particularly in tough battles with the textile industry.

"The United Auto Workers is one of the unions which have had a common interest with us in organizing the South," Pollock told a Textile Workers convention Monday. "We had worked closely with Walter Reuther."

"So we deplore the fact that this great, progressive union is now going its own way," he said.

Pollock said Reuther should have accepted the AFL-CIO's offer of a special convention to discuss his charges against the federation's leadership. Meany and other AFL-CIO leaders asked only that Reuther agree in advance to abide by any decision of such a convention.

"Even though there may be merit in some of Walter Reuther's criticisms of the AFL-CIO, his refusal to accept a special convention to hear his complaints, and abide by the majority decision of that convention, is a tragic mistake," said Pollock, one of 27 AFL-CIO vice presidents.

Parked Cars Hamper City's Sweeper Crew

Parked autos today hampered the city's plan to clean a winter accumulation of ashes and debris from E. and W. 3rd Sts.

The mechanical sweeper was slated to clean north side of the heavily traveled street between College and Monroe Sts., starting work at 6 a. m. and finishing at 10. A parking ban was given wide publicity Monday and police posted placards on the stretch last night.

But at least 10 cars were left parked along the affected area, despite the warnings, Safety - Service Director Robert E. Vodrey said. Police could not follow their usual practice of checking license numbers and locating the owners to ask them to move their cars. The Bureau of Motor Vehicles has not yet issued a new volume listing numbers on the new auto tags that have been in use since mid-April.

Plans Made For Carnival

Plans were advanced for the annual carnival and parade at a meeting of Newell firemen Monday night.

The carnival will be held June 22-29, with the parade June 28. "Bargain" tickets are being sold by the firemen until June 22.

Any group interested in sponsoring a booth should contact Dave Jester.

Robert Duncan, chairman, reported donations have been good in the maintenance drive.

The Newell department will host a one - day fire school Sunday from 9 a. m. to 4:30 p.m. Ray Simpson of the state fire marshal's office will conduct training in pumps and hydraulics. The Auxiliary will serve dinner.

James Stevens has been accepted as a member after serving a year's probation.

Board Hires Secretary At South Side

COSHOCTON, Ohio (AP) — Two agencies are investigating the explosion and fire in a propane gas pipeline which killed two persons and injured three others near here Saturday night.

Strengthens Enemies, Pollock Says

Split Of UAW, AFL-CIO Seen As Blow To Labor

WASHINGTON (AP) — A fellow union president says Walter Reuther hurt the labor movement in a critical election year by splitting his United Auto Workers from the AFL-CIO.

"This serves only to strengthen the hands of the enemies of labor," said William Pollock, president of the 200,000-member AFL-CIO Textile Workers Union of America.

Pollock's union backs Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey for the Democratic presidential nomination. The Auto Workers have declined to endorse any candidate although Reuther reportedly leans toward Sen. Robert F. Kennedy.

Reuther's 1.6 million-member UAW, largest of the AFL-CIO's 128 unions, was suspended by AFL-CIO President George Meany last month under an automatic provision of the federation's constitution for refusing to pay dues.

Pollock, the second union chief to criticize Reuther publicly, said, "You can't build and strengthen the labor movement by dividing it."

P. L. (Roy) Siemiller, president of the million-strong AFL-CIO International Association of Machinists, earlier voiced similar criticism of Reuther.

Pollock said Reuther's split in a leadership dispute with Meany will also weaken labor's efforts to organize more workers in the South, particularly in tough battles with the textile industry.

"The United Auto Workers is one of the unions which have had a common interest with us in organizing the South," Pollock told a Textile Workers convention Monday. "We had worked closely with Walter Reuther."

"So we deplore the fact that this great, progressive union is now going its own way," he said.

Pollock said Reuther should have accepted the AFL-CIO's offer of a special convention to discuss his charges against the federation's leadership. Meany and other AFL-CIO leaders asked only that Reuther agree in advance to abide by any decision of such a convention.

"Even though there may be merit in some of Walter Reuther's criticisms of the AFL-CIO, his refusal to accept a special convention to hear his complaints, and abide by the majority decision of that convention, is a tragic mistake," said Pollock, one of 27 AFL-CIO vice presidents.

Parked Cars Hamper City's Sweeper Crew

Parked autos today hampered the city's plan to clean a winter accumulation of ashes and debris from E. and W. 3rd Sts.

The mechanical sweeper was slated to clean north side of the heavily traveled street between College and Monroe Sts., starting work at 6 a. m. and finishing at 10. A parking ban was given wide publicity Monday and police posted placards on the stretch last night.

But at least 10 cars were left parked along the affected area, despite the warnings, Safety - Service Director Robert E. Vodrey said. Police could not follow their usual practice of checking license numbers and locating the owners to ask them to move their cars. The Bureau of Motor Vehicles has not yet issued a new volume listing numbers on the new auto tags that have been in use since mid-April.

Pop Arist Warhol Remains Critical From Gun Wound

NEW YORK (AP) — Police say Valeria Solanis, a young actress who appeared in one of Andy Warhol's underground film epics, told them she shot the trend-setting pop artist because "I am a flower child. He had too much control over my life."

Warhol, 41, whose films, sculpture and paintings inspired new currents in pop culture, remained in critical condition at Columbus Hospital today with doctors saying he had a 50-50 chance for survival.

The artist, who first outraged critics with his paintings of Campbell Soup cans and outsized reproductions of Brillo boxes that sold for $1,300 each, was shot Monday afternoon in the movie studio he called a "factory."

Mario Amaya, a writer and art dealer from London, who was visiting Warhol was also hit in the barrage of five bullets but he suffered only a graze wound in the back and was released after treatment.

Miss Solanis, 28, surrendered four hours after the shooting by announcing to a traffic policeman in the Times Square area, "Police are looking for me."

She was wearing a trenchcoat with a loaded pistol stashed in each side pocket. After questioning she was booked on charges of felonious assault and possession of a deadly weapon.

The slight, 5-foot-3 brown-haired actress who had a role in Warhol's film, "I, a Man," a parody of a Swedish film about a nymphomaniac, chatted freely with newsmen during her booking.

About the shooting she said, "I've got a lot of very involved reasons." She described herself as "a writer" but gave no address saying, "I live nowhere."

The shooting took place about 4:30 p.m. in Warhol's sixth floor office on Union Square with five other persons, including Amaya, present.

How Can I?

By ANNE ASHLEY

Q. — How do I go about baking a strawberry - rhubarb pie?

A. — This is really just like apple pie, except that you use three cups of frozen rhubarb, just thawed, and three cups of sliced fresh strawberries. Also ¾-cup of granulated sugar, ⅛-teaspoon of salt, ¼-teaspoon of nutmeg, ¼-teaspoon of cinnamon, four tablespoons of flour, one tablespoon of butter.

Q. — How can I repair holes, cracks or leaking seams in articles of metal, such as buckets, spray tanks, stoves, kettles, and the like?

A.—You can often effect a good seal with an application of iron cement, procurable at hardware stores in small cans in powder form Mix the powder to a paste with water, then apply with a putty knife.

Q. — Is there any way I can make use of the juice in a jar of pickles?

A. — You can use it in salad dressings, in place of vinegar, for a unique and delicious flavor. Many other such tips for the kitchen are contained in my household-hints manual.

Pop Arist Warhol Remains Critical From Gun Wound

NEW YORK (AP) — Police say Valeria Solanis, a young actress who appeared in one of Andy Warhol's underground film epics, told them she shot the trend-setting pop artist because "I am a flower child. He had too much control over my life."

Warhol, 41, whose films, sculpture and paintings inspired new currents in pop culture, remained in critical condition at Columbus Hospital today with doctors saying he had a 50-50 chance for survival.

The artist, who first outraged critics with his paintings of Campbell Soup cans and outsized reproductions of Brillo boxes that sold for $1,300 each, was shot Monday afternoon in the movie studio he called a "factory."

Mario Amaya, a writer and art dealer from London, who was visiting Warhol was also hit in the barrage of five bullets but he suffered only a graze wound in the back and was released after treatment.

Miss Solanis, 28, surrendered four hours after the shooting by announcing to a traffic policeman in the Times Square area, "Police are looking for me."

She was wearing a trenchcoat with a loaded pistol stashed in each side pocket. After questioning she was booked on charges of felonious assault and possession of a deadly weapon.

The slight, 5-foot-3 brown-haired actress who had a role in Warhol's film, "I, a Man," a parody of a Swedish film about a nymphomaniac, chatted freely with newsmen during her booking.

About the shooting she said, "I've got a lot of very involved reasons." She described herself as "a writer" but gave no address saying, "I live nowhere."

The shooting took place about 4:30 p.m. in Warhol's sixth floor office on Union Square with five other persons, including Amaya, present.

How Can I?

By ANNE ASHLEY

Q. — How do I go about baking a strawberry - rhubarb pie?

A. — This is really just like apple pie, except that you use three cups of frozen rhubarb, just thawed, and three cups of sliced fresh strawberries. Also ¾-cup of granulated sugar, ⅛-teaspoon of salt, ¼-teaspoon of nutmeg, ¼-teaspoon of cinnamon, four tablespoons of flour, one tablespoon of butter.

Q. — How can I repair holes, cracks or leaking seams in articles of metal, such as buckets, spray tanks, stoves, kettles, and the like?

A.—You can often effect a good seal with an application of iron cement, procurable at hardware stores in small cans in powder form Mix the powder to a paste with water, then apply with a putty knife.

Q. — Is there any way I can make use of the juice in a jar of pickles?

A. — You can use it in salad dressings, in place of vinegar, for a unique and delicious flavor. Many other such tips for the kitchen are contained in my household-hints manual.

At Commencement

Midland Seniors Urged 'Forward'

"You, the graduating class of 1968, have reached the point of no return; you cannot go back, you must go forward!" Michael Baker Jr., guest speaker, declared during the 53rd commencement of Midland Lincoln High School Monday night.

"We hand you this great nation as a trust with all its internal and external struggles," he said.

About 700 attended the exercises.

Baker, recipient of the 1968 "Engineer of the Year" award by the Pennsylvania Society of Professional Engineers, reviewed his early struggles in obtaining his education and launching his career. He told the graduates that they now have better health, better opportunities, better working conditions and higher standards of living than he had in his day.

—:—

NO MATTER what your choice, remember that the career you choose is very important to your fellow man. Prepare yourself with further education and with continuing education as the opportunity arises. Live by the laws of society, by the beliefs of your church, and by The Golden Rule. Remember, man must be able to turn in times of trouble and in times of thanks to a Higher Being. Believe in success; be patient and humble. Remember the old adage, 'All things come to those who wait and work like heck while they are waiting.' Also, we get nothing in this world unless we put something forth. Don't be brainwashed or taken in by false prophets. Yes, this is your point of no return; this is your life."

—:—

HE WAS introduced by School Supt. Charles P. Henderson.

Carolyn Diane Wuchina, valedictorian, spoke on "The Promise of a Class." She said, "Each of us can excell by being dedicated to his purpose. We are the masters of our fate. May God grant us the enthusiasm and fortitude to make the most of our potentials."

Barney Newman, salutatorian, speaking on "The Best Of Our Memories," said, "We have completed approximately one-fourth of our lives thus far, including 13 years of study." He thanked "loving and patient parents who have sacrificed: the nation, state and community for educational opportunities; the instructors, and our beneficient God who has made all our achievements possible. We leave with the strong confidence that we shall not fail, but shall be worthy of our inheritance."

The concert band directed by Louis Morace played the processional, "Pomp and Circumstance," and the recessional. The invocation and benediction were offered by the Rev. W. S. River of the Midland Methodist Church. Maxine Anderson sang "Still as the Night," with Stephanie Fay Golding at the piano.

"GIVE ME Your Tired, Your Poor," (Berlin - Ringwald) was sung by the senior choir under the direction of C. Lloyd Deffenbaugh, music supervisor.

Henry J. Kuzma, principal, announced the scholarships and presented the class and honor students. Maurice J. Newman, president of the Board of Education, awarded diplomas. The senior class sang "Alma Mater" as a benediction response.

Order Sought To Overturn License Case

Mrs. Marie B. Nentwick, who operates Nentwick Convalescent Home at 1522 Lisbon St., is seeking a Common Pleas Court order restraining the state from revoking her license.

The hearing is scheduled for Friday before Judge Joel H. Sharp at Lisbon.

Dr. E. W. Arnold, state health director, issued the revocation order April 26. It says the owner has 45 days (until June 10) to cease operations or face litigation in one of two forms—a criminal action for operating without a license, or a civil suit to enjoin illegal operation.

Mrs. Nentwick filed an appeal after receiving the director's order.

She claims the referee's findings of fact and conclusions of law, made Feb. 1, were based on inspections of the home June 14, June 19, Oct. 24 and Nov. 7 last year, and since those dates she has complied with each and every violation mentioned in the findings.

One of the findings was that the home employed no licensed personnel as required by the code. Mrs. Nentwick said she had difficulty finding licensed practical nurses but was able to do so between the time of the hearing Nov. 9 in Columbus and the director's subsequent order. She also said she received her certificate as a registered nurse April 1 and lives in the home so is on call day and night.

The state also found that the building has not been approved by the Department of Industrial Relations, a certified municipal or county building department, or the state fire marshal as the code requires. Mrs. Nentwick claims there is some misunderstanding — that an inspector checked the property and told her everytning was all right.

Bids Opened For Beaver Courthouse

BEAVER — County commissioners late this morning opened bids for sale of a $2.5 million bond issue for a new Courthouse administration building, repairs to the present Courthouse, bridge repairs and other projects.

Funds from the bonds also will be used for purchasing land for the new addition and for acquiring property for parks.

Commissioners were also to open bids for increasing parking facilities at the County Hospital for 102 autos.

The contract for the parking area went to Interstate Amiesite of Monaca on its low bid of $31,740. Pittsburgh Asphalt Co. bid $32,950.

The commissioners authorized payment of $11,800 to the general services administration for 17.94 acres of land in Greene Township — the site of old Lock 7 across from Midland—for a future recreational area.

Judge Banishes City Man, 24, In Harassing Calls

A 24-year-old East Liverpool man convicted of making a series of "harassing" telephone calls to an E. 3rd St. family was ordered today by Municipal Judge Samuel M. Chertoff to leave the city or serve a 30-day County Jail term.

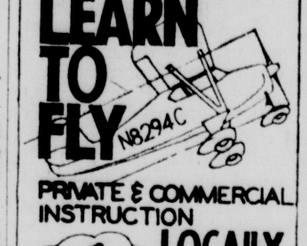

Jeff Milheim, also listed as Jesse Milhimes, of E. 2nd St. was convicted on an affidavit signed by Raymond Courtwright of 234 E. 3rd St., alleging the defendant made the telephone calls between May 17 and May 29. Courtwright testified the calls ceased when he obtained an unlisted telephone number.

Courtwright and his wife, mother of 10, testified that Milheim usually called their home "when he had been drinking and wanted to talk with someone."

One of the calls came at 2:30 in the morning, they added. The affidavit said the calls were made "solely for the purpose of harassing" Courtwright and his family.

Testimony disclosed Milheim and the Courtwrights formerly were friends and that the defendant and Mrs. Courtwright previously worked at the same car wash establishment. Learning that Milheim has obtained employment in Charles Town, W. Va., the court suspended the jail sentence on condition that the defendant leaves East Liverpool.

Pledge Made To Americans By Humphrey

NEW LONDON, Conn. (AP) — Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey pledged today that if elected president he would give individual Americans the chance to carry "peaceful social revolution" to those who seek it abroad, and to steer the United States away "from ever wider military and armaments programs toward peaceful development."

Humphrey had a busy day of traveling as his rivals for the Democratic presidential nomination—Sens. Eugene J. McCarthy and Robert F. Kennedy —waited for the results of their California primary contest.

The vice president's speech was prepared for the U.S. Coast Guard Academy commencement here.

He likened Congress' withholding of funds for the Asian Development Bank and the Agency for International Development to holding back "a necessary and available medicine from a patient whose health depends on it."

He called the action by Congress symptomatic of a growing "and I believe shortsighted callousness" toward the plight of poor nations. Humphrey said he did not really believe that individual Americans were callous but that there was a gap between the instinct of their citizens and "the vote finally cast on his behalf by his Congressman."

Thus, the vice president said, to narrow the gap between rich and poor nations, action must be taken "to mobilize the individual citizen to direct, personal action he can undertake on his own level."

Humphrey said he would, if elected president, do everything in his power to encourage individual participation, and he added:

"I propose to offer a new system of national service for our young people—a system that offers overseas outlets far beyond the present numerical openings in the Peace Corps and in voluntary agencies."

Humphrey also proposed to explore new tax and other incentives for universities, corporations and labor unions, and to become involved in health, education, agriculture and manpower projects in new nations.

In 1925, Kemal Ataturk suppressed all dervish orders in Turkey as part of a program to secularize and modernize the country.

At Commencement

Midland Seniors Urged 'Forward'

"You, the graduating class of 1968, have reached the point of no return; you cannot go back, you must go forward!" Michael Baker Jr., guest speaker, declared during the 53rd commencement of Midland Lincoln High School Monday night.

"We hand you this great nation as a trust with all its internal and external struggles," he said.

About 700 attended the exercises.

Baker, recipient of the 1968 "Engineer of the Year" award by the Pennsylvania Society of Professional Engineers, reviewed his early struggles in obtaining his education and launching his career. He told the graduates that they now have better health, better opportunities, better working conditions and higher standards of living than he had in his day.

—:—

NO MATTER what your choice, remember that the career you choose is very important to your fellow man. Prepare yourself with further education and with continuing education as the opportunity arises. Live by the laws of society, by the beliefs of your church, and by The Golden Rule. Remember, man must be able to turn in times of trouble and in times of thanks to a Higher Being. Believe in success; be patient and humble. Remember the old adage, 'All things come to those who wait and work like heck while they are waiting.' Also, we get nothing in this world unless we put something forth. Don't be brainwashed or taken in by false prophets. Yes, this is your point of no return; this is your life."

—:—

HE WAS introduced by School Supt. Charles P. Henderson.

Carolyn Diane Wuchina, valedictorian, spoke on "The Promise of a Class." She said, "Each of us can excell by being dedicated to his purpose. We are the masters of our fate. May God grant us the enthusiasm and fortitude to make the most of our potentials."

Barney Newman, salutatorian, speaking on "The Best Of Our Memories," said, "We have completed approximately one-fourth of our lives thus far, including 13 years of study." He thanked "loving and patient parents who have sacrificed; the nation, state and community for educational opportunities; the instructors, and our beneficient God who has made all our achievements possible. We leave with the strong confidence that we shall not fail, but shall be worthy of our inheritance."

The concert band directed by Louis Morace played the processional, "Pomp and Circumstance," and the recessional. The invocation and benediction were offered by the Rev. W. S. River of the Midland Methodist Church. Maxine Anderson sang "Still as the Night," with Stephanie Fay Golding at the piano.

"GIVE ME Your Tired, Your Poor," (Berlin - Ringwald) was sung by the senior choir under the direction of C. Lloyd Deffenbaugh, music supervisor.

Henry J. Kuzma, principal, announced the scholarships and presented the class and honor students. Maurice J. Newman, president of the Board of Education, awarded diplomas. The senior class sang "Alma Mater" as a benediction response.

Order Sought To Overturn License Case

Mrs. Marie B. Nentwick, who operates Nentwick Convalescent Home at 1522 Lisbon St., is seeking a Common Pleas Court order restraining the state from revoking her license.

The hearing is scheduled for Friday before Judge Joel H. Sharp at Lisbon.

Dr. E. W. Arnold, state health director, issued the revocation order April 26. It says the owner has 45 days (until June 10) to cease operations or face litigation in one of two forms—a criminal action for operating without a license, or a civil suit to enjoin illegal operation.

Mrs. Nentwick filed an appeal after receiving the director's order.

She claims the referee's findings of fact and conclusions of law, made Feb. 1, were based on inspections of the home June 14, June 19, Oct. 24 and Nov. 7 last year, and since those dates she has complied with each and every violation mentioned in the findings.

One of the findings was that the home employed no licensed personnel as required by the code. Mrs. Nentwick said she had difficulty finding licensed practical nurses but was able to do so between the time of the hearing Nov. 9 in Columbus and the director's subsequent order. She also said she received her certificate as a registered nurse April 1 and lives in the home so is on call day and night.

The state also found that the building has not been approved by the Department of Industrial Relations, a certified municipal or county building department, or the state fire marshal as the code requires. Mrs. Nentwick claims there is some misunderstanding — that an inspector checked the property and told her everytning was all right.

For New Buildings

17 Firms Given School Contracts

Contracts for equipment for the newly - constructed East Liverpool High School and three elementary buildings were awarded to 17 firms, including five locally, when the Board of Education met Monday night.

Contracts awarded on a low bid basis totaled $167,318, while $19,272 was authorized for equipment on a quotation basis.

All bids are subject to approval by the Ohio Department of Education. Architect Robert Beatty told the board and pointed out that on any equipment that is not installed by Aug. 1 by the company awarded the contract there will be a penalty of $25 a day.

Local firms include Burbick Hardware, which will supply 8 hospital scales ($624); 5 two-wheel hand trucks ($113); 4 master hand tool sets ($399); gymnasium mats and trucks ($1,350), and art easels ($38), for a total of $2,525.

The Celli Music Center received a contract for 5 pianos at a cost of $2,775; the Milligan Hardware and Supply Co. will provide 8 aluminum step-ladders for $158; and Gladys DeBolt will supply loose serving equipment, including, tableware and glassware for all four buildings for $10,188.

THE AMERICAN Seating Co., Cleveland, was awarded a contract for pupil desks and chairs ($50,969); tables ($10,118); auditorium seating ($11,872), and a speaker's stand ($84), for a total of $73,043.

Haseley - Waller, Inc., another Cleveland firm, received a contract to furnish teachers' desks and chairs ($8,220); folding chairs ($6,065); secretary desks and chairs ($1,362); executive type desks and chairs ($666); chair trucks ($716); commercial equipment ($5,900); study carrells ($954); riser platforms and trucks ($3,322); L-shaped typing units ($240); demonstration stands ($111); and riser trucks ($420). The total contract with Haseley - Waller, Inc., is $27,976.

Borden Office Equipment Co. of Steubenville was awarded a contract to supply file cabinets for a total of $11,710.

Litton Business Systems, Inc., of Beaver Falls received a contract for Royal Electric Typewriters at a cost of $18,930. Meek Stationery Co. of East Palestine will supply office machines for $2,888.

A contract for supplying waste receptacles ($2,051), storage cabinets ($274), storage shelving ($1,377), flat file ($95) secretary chairs ($202), and executive type chairs ($199) was awarded James and Weaver, Inc. of Youngstown. The contract to James and Weaver totaled $4,199.

SOFA CHAIRS and divans for teachers' lounges in all four buildings will be supplied by the Kyser Equipment Co., Niles, a dealer for Griggs Equipment, at a cost of $825. The Classic Equipment Co., Dover was awarded a contract for library equipment at a cost of $4,879. Supt. Paul Blair said Classic had supplied shelves and equipment in the Home Ec and other departments and the work was "very well done and very beautiful."

The firms were awarded contracts for cleaning equipment. The Damon Chemical Co., Youngstown, will furnish floor cleaning equipment ($4,025) and 8 mop - wringer units ($134) for a total of $4,210, and George L. Williams Co., Cleveland, will furnish automatic floor machines ($4,855) and 8 wastepaper cart and bag units ($220) a total of $5075.20. Beatty explained that the automatic floor machines were large scrubbers with 9-gallon capacities, and the floor cleaning equipment consisted of polishers and buffers.

Janson Industries, Canton, will be the supplier for the gymnasium divider ($6,980) and a scaffold ($1,140). Beatty said that the divider was a lead impregnated canvas-type material that will roll to the ceiling.

MATH DESKS will be supplied by Virco Manufacturing Co., Columbus, on a bid of $1,701.

Canton Hardware Co. was low bidder for loose cooking equipment for the high school ($4,123), and East Elementary ($1,507), a total of $5,630. H. F. Behrhorst and Sons, Inc., submitted a lower bid for LaCroft and North Elementary. Their bid combined for these two schools was $1,754, and they were awarded this contract.

The board deferred action on several bids, rejected several, and left one unresolved. The bid submitted by the Van Extinguisher Service, East Liverpool, for fire extinguishers received much discussion, but no action was taken. Beatty explained this was the only bid received, both lower.

Thomas Rodfong, board member, moved bids be sought again on the fire extinguishers. He said perhaps other dealers did not have the information in time to submit a quotation. He also questioned whether Alfred Van Dyne, whose job it is to inspect the fire equipment and set standards and qualifications, should be the supplier of this same equipment. Samuel Brown, president, asked Jackman Vodrey, assistant city solicitor, for an opinion.

Vodrey said he had been looking for a ruling since he had been approached about the matter before the board meeting. He reported he had been unable to find a similar instance or ruling, adding he did not know whether the Department of Education would approve or object to the situation. Rodfong's motion failed for the lack of a second.

A MOTION was then made to defer action on this bid. It was defeated 3 to 2. Harry McConville then moved the quotation be accepted. This motion also died for lack of a second. The matter was then dropped.

Action was deferred on a bid received from Celli Music Center for music stands. This was the only quotation received, and board members indicated they would seek other quotations also.

The bid received from the Campus Equipment Co. for teachers' podiums was rejected because, although it met specifications, it was not the equipment wanted. New figures will be asked.

Also rejected was a bid for audio learning systems. The company bidding on this equipment had supplied only a catalog, and since this equipment would require an expenditure of approximately $6,000 or more, the board members said they would like to see this equipment before purchasing. Beatty was asked to readvertise for bids.

Mimeograph and spirit duplicator bids were also rejected. The original bid asked for hand-operated equipment. The board decided, upon the recommendation of Carl Pelini, assistant superintendent and Blair to ask for bids for electrically - operated equipment. Since only one bid had been received for electric, bids for this equipment will be asked from other companies which submitted bids for the hand operated equipment.

BIDS FOR shorthand listening systems and for teachers' high back chairs also were deferred. The high back chairs were to be used with certain type teachers' podium, and if this type is not subsequently purchased, the high back chairs will not be needed. The board wanted to study further the shorthand listening systems.

No bids were received on other equipment, including work benches and vises, electric slicers, sewing machines, music files, conductors' chair, music folio, coat racks, hospital cots, loose custodial equipment, loose home economics equipment, special educational instructional equipment, movable blackboards, and end tables and lamps.

Board members said they were disappointed that more bids and quotations were not received from local firms, and if anyone would like to have more information concerning the equipment that was not bid on or for bids that were rejected, they should contact Beatty immediately.

Only one bid was received for truck and snow removal equipment. Action was not taken on this bid. Action on all deferred and new bids will be taken at the next board meeting.

Bachman Quits As Findlay High Athletic Director

FINDLAY, Oio (AP) — Carl Bachman, one of the state's winningest high school basketball coaches, has retired for a second time.

Bachman, 65, retired Monday as athletic director of Findlay High School, where he coached 34 years. He retired as coach in 1956 after a highly successful career.

But despite his over - all 477 victories compared to only 126 losses, a standout in his career is a national collegiate football record he holds. It unlikely will ever be broken.

As a place kicker for Bowling Green State University in the 1920s, Bachman booted 19 extra points in the same game as Bowling Green routed Findlay College 151-0. He won 13 letters in five sports at BG.

Bachman's 1948 Findlay High team won the state basketball championship with a 27-0 record. He had four other regular season unbeaten teams and in one seven-year stretch won 138 of 150 games.

Teacher Leave OK'd

Board Approves Staff Insurance

A new hospitalization insurance program for city teachers was approved by the East Liverpool Board of Education during a 4½-hour meeting Monday.

The board also established a personal leave policy for the faculty and named instructors for the summer school program.

THE BOARD adopted the Blue Cross-Blue Shield hospitalization insurance program, plus a major medical and life insurance accidental death and dismemberment policy supplied by the Phoenix Mutual Life Insurance Co. through Associated Hospital Services.

The cost for single coverage will be $13.93 and $33.98 for family coverage. The board has agreed to pay $10.50 of this cost for any employe who desires to join the program. If an employe does not want this coverage, he will not be required to do so provided he writes a letter to the administration so stating and waiving the $10.50.

Samuel Brown, president, opposed one provision of the program which would restrict payment of the board's share for employes who do not want to participate. He said he believes the board's share should be paid to employes for use on any plan they wish.

ALL FULL-TIME salaried employes of the board will be alloued up to one day's absence each year for emergency situations not covered in the regular sick leave policy.

This personal leave policy permits absence for accidents involving the employe or immediate family or property of either; court appearances as litigant or witness; travel conditions which make reporting for work impossible and other similar emergencies that cannot be given attention at other than work time.

Also allowed will be observance of religious holidays that require total abstinence from work; graduation exercises for the employes, spouse, or child; college comprehensive exams for teacher employes; and spouse, daughter or son leaving for military service.

Such days are non-accumulative or transferable from one school year to another, they will not be deducted from sick leave, and cannot be taken before or after a school holiday. Evidence indicating to the board abuse of personal leave shall be considered just cause for dismissal from service.

This personal leave policy was drawn up by the East Liverpool Teachers Association and approved by the board for one year. If at the end of that time it is working smoothly and advantage or abuse has not been made of the privilege, the board may then decide to continue it and possibly extend it to two days instead of one.

Board members said that although the teachers intended this policy for certificated personnel, they wanted to include non-certificated personnel, and the board included the latter when making approval.

NINETEEN HIGH school teachers were appointed to teach in the summer school program.

They include Keith Langdon, JoAnn Capehart, Helen McGregor, Stanley Grzbienowski, Frank Moss, Joseph Mowad, Roger Sharp, Marjorie Hoffman, Charles DeJulius, James Quinn, David Thorne, Robert McNea, Ralph Hutchison, Joseph Mitchell, Wilbert Moore, James Potts, Paul Hruska, Norma Carpenter and Charles Ridenour.

Ridenour, who formerly taught in the city schools, leaving because of family illness, is an industrial arts teacher.

Enrollment for summer school is over 400, and if it increases, another teacher may be appointed.

Supt. Paul Blair also was authorized to hire teachers for the junior high summer program. They have not yet been named.

The Life Adjustment Program Curriculum, which is paid for by federal funds, will be supervised by Joseph Cochran. Mrs. Edna Jones will be in charge of health services and Robert McNamara will serve as psychologist. Reading will be under the direction of Mrs. Mary R. Bebout, Mrs. Roberta Lane and Mrs. Mary Alice Slaven.

Miss Kaye Edwards and Mrs. Jean Lampman will conduct art classes and Don Adams and Mrs. Judy Fisk will teach music.

Shop will be under the direction of Charles Fazzone and be taught by Mrs. Margaret Hall and Mrs. Joanne Six. The custodian will be Roy Martin.

IN OTHER action, the board granted permission for the high school cheerleaders to use the Memorial Auditorium parking lot Saturday for a car wash. The group will pay $5 for the water they use and will clean up the lot when finished.

The resignation of Mrs. Marilyn Lang, elementary teacher at Westgate, was accepted. Mrs. Lang, the wife of James Lang, will join her husband now stationed at Norfolk, Va., with the Navy. Resignations also were accepted from Charles R. Snyder, West Point, a bus driver for 36 years who is retiring, and from George Burbridge, Westgate custodian who has reached the compulsory retirement age. Burbridge served the school district for 11 years.

H. Jud English asked the board for permission to use the Westgate parking area June 20-22 during the Tri-State Pottery Festival. Persons parking at Westgate will be transported to the festival. The board granted permission for use of the lot.

A leave of absence was granted for six months beginning Sept. 1 to Mrs. Rachael Emmerling who has been ill. Mrs. Emmerling is a cook at Westgate.

CONTRACTS FOR paper were approved by the board, with Dobson-Evans, Columbus, 300 reams yellow line paper, $.50 a ream; J. R. Holcomb, Cleveland, newsprint 8 by 12, 300 reams, $.455 a ream and newsprint 12 by 18, 105 reams, $.91 a ream; Kurtz Brothers, Clearfield, Pa., theme paper, 30 reams, $.721 a ream, and 2,500 reams 8½ by 11 ditto paper at $.90 per ream, Borden Office Equipment, Steubenville.

Jackman Vodrey, assistant city solicitor, announced that sewer assessment notices will be mailed this week. Robert Beatty, architect, read a letter from the Sayre Electric Co. listing the items taken when the workshop was entered on May 21. He also requested that the board take under advisement and study the situation concerning the parking area which is completed.

Beatty stated that the specifications for the lot were originally good blacktop like the drives, but that the state department insisted the tar and slag as now applied would have to be used.

He said the tar is seeping through and water eventually will do the same and the board will have a problem of water running down and eroding under the driveways. Beatty recommended the board apply a 2½-inch coating of asphalt. This will be considered in the future.

REPAIR AND MAINTENANCE recommendations totaling $24,843 were approved with tht exception of blacktopping the area east of Westgate school.

This item for $1,400 was deferred until members could visit the site and determine just where this area is. Harry McConville said he would rather see a curb laid and grass planted. William Blair, the new board member, requested time to go to the site and make observations. Action will be taken on this in the future.

Brown appointed William Blair chairman of the building committee and appointed him to serve on the certificated employes relations committee and insurance committee.

William Blair then asked the board members about plans for an administration building. The committee will meet with Beatty to discuss this building.

Supt. Blair announced that Mrs. Vincent LaNeve of Pickering Ave. will open a kindergarten in her home for 24 pupils this fall and Mrs. Robert Lora will be continuing her kindergarten at Glenmoor.

Brown asked Pelini to send a letter to the interested persons that had met concerning kindergarten several times, telling them their proposals are still under consideration.

The board pointed out plans have not been dropped for a kindergarten. George Ward then asked about the Salvation Army building, and Supt. Blair reported "Army" officials felt they could not accommodate the program.

Man Hurt In Wreck Undergoes Surgery

Jack Dobronz of Edgewood Circle, Industry, underwent surgery this morning at Mercy Hospital, Pittsburgh, for skull and facial bone fractures suffered in an auto accident Saturday on Midland Heights Hill.

Three others hospitalized in the mishap remain at Rochester General Hospital. They are Mrs. Edith Jean White, wife of Glenn White of 6-A Midland Heights, and their children, Robin Lane White, 8, and John William White, 2. She is fair and the children satisfactory.

Mrs. White suffered possible rib injuries, abrasions of the legs and arms and underwent surgery earlier for a collapsed lung.

Police said cars operated by Dobronz and Mrs. White collided head-on at the top curve of Route 168 on the hill.

BUYING A DIAMOND

This column is addressed to the men, but ladies are allowed to peak. When you are buying a diamond, for any reason — engagement, investment, anniversary gift, personal pleasure — there are certain facts you should know. The diamond is unlike any other mineral on earth. It takes more than 100 cubic yards of diamond bearing rock to yield one carat in stones, for example. And out of each yield, only 20% is suitable for jewelry purposes, the other 60% being used in industry.

A question that I am often asked is: "What is the standard price for a one carat diamond?" About the only way I can explain this is by comparing diamond prices to that of a suit of clothes. A man's suit can cost anywhere from $50 or less to over $200 depending on quality of workmanship and excellence of fabric. A diamond, too, depends for its value on the quality of workmanship on the part of man — which we jewelers consider the most important of the four C's — Cutting.

The excellence of fabric might be compared to the second of the four C's — Clarity — or absence of natural inclusions that might mar either the beauty or durability of the gem. Color also should be considered here as the third of the four C's, with a clear white being the most desirable. Carat size comes last, for it is the combination of the other three C's that determines each diamond's PER CARAT price. Again, consider that a man's suit, if it is considered worthy of a $150 price tag, bears the same price whether you buy it in a size 32 short, or a 44 long. It is the QUALITY, not size, that counts. We will be happy to explain this further when you come to our store to look at diamonds.

For New Buildings

17 Firms Given School Contracts

Contracts for equipment for the newly - constructed East Liverpool High School and three elementary buildings were awarded to 17 firms, including five locally, when the Board of Education met Monday night.

Contracts awarded on a low bid basis totaled $167,318, while $19,272 was authorized for equipment on a quotation basis.

All bids are subject to approval by the Ohio Department of Education. Architect Robert Beatty told the board and pointed out that on any equipment that is not installed by Aug. 1 by the company awarded the contract there will be a penalty of $25 a day.

Local firms include Burbick Hardware, which will supply 8 hospital scales ($624); 5 two-wheel hand trucks ($113); 4 master hand tool sets ($399); gymnasium mats and trucks ($1,350), and art easels ($38), for a total of $2,525.

The Celli Music Center received a contract for 5 pianos at a cost of $2,775; the Milligan Hardware and Supply Co. will provide 8 aluminum stepladders for $158; and Gladys DeBolt will supply loose serving equipment, including, tableware and glassware for all four buildings for $10,188.

THE AMERICAN Seating Co., Cleveland, was awarded a contract for pupil desks and chairs ($50,969); tables ($10,118); auditorium seating ($11,872), and a speaker's stand ($84), for a total of $73,043.

Haseley - Waller, Inc., another Cleveland firm, received a contract to furnish teachers' desks and chairs ($8,220); folding chairs ($6,065); secretary desks and chairs ($1,362); executive type desks and chairs ($666); chair trucks ($716); commercial equipment ($5,900); study carrells ($954); riser platforms and trucks ($3,322); L-shaped typing units ($240); demonstration stands ($111); and riser trucks ($420). The total contract with Haseley - Waller, Inc., is $27,976.

Borden Office Equipment Co. of Steubenville was awarded a contract to supply file cabinets for a total of $11,710.

Litton Business Systems, Inc., of Beaver Falls received a contract for Royal Electric Typewriters at a cost of $18,930. Meek Stationery Co. of East Palestine will supply office machines for $2,888.

A contract for supplying waste receptacles ($2,051), storage cabinets ($274), storage shelving ($1,377), flat file ($95) secretary chairs ($202), and executive type chairs ($199) was awarded James and Weaver, Inc. of Youngstown. The contract to James and Weaver totaled $4,199.

SOFA CHAIRS and divans for teachers' lounges in all four buildings will be supplied by the Kyser Equipment Co., Niles, a dealer for Griggs Equipment, at a cost of $825. The Classic Equipment Co., Dover was awarded a contract for library equipment at a cost of $4,879. Supt. Paul Blair said Classic had supplied shelves and equipment in the Home Ec and other departments and the work was "very well done and very beautiful."

The firms were awarded contracts for cleaning equipment. The Damon Chemical Co., Youngstown, will furnish floor cleaning equipment ($4,025) and 8 mop - wringer units ($134) for a total of $4,210, and George L. Williams Co., Cleveland, will furnish automatic floor machines ($4,855) and 8 wastepaper cart and bag units ($220) a total of $5075.20. Beatty explained that the automatic floor machines were large scrubbers with 9-gallon capacities, and the floor cleaning equipment consisted of polishers and buffers.

Janson Industries, Canton, will be the supplier for the gymnasium divider ($6,980) and a scaffold ($1,140). Beatty said that the divider was a lead impregnated canvas-type material that will roll to the ceiling.

MATH DESKS will be supplied by Virco Manufacturing Co., Columbus, on a bid of $1,701.

Canton Hardware Co. was low bidder for loose cooking equipment for the high school ($4,123), and East Elementary ($1,507), a total of $5,630. H. F. Behrhorst and Sons, Inc., submitted a lower bid for LaCroft and North Elementary. Their bid combined for these two schools was $1,754, and they were awarded this contract.

The board deferred action on several bids, rejected several, and left one unresolved. The bid submitted by the Van Extinguisher Service, East Liverpool, for fire extinguishers received much discussion, but no action was taken. Beatty explained this was the only bid received, both lower.

Thomas Rodfong, board member, moved bids be sought again on the fire extinguishers. He said perhaps other dealers did not have the information in time to submit a quotation. He also questioned whether Alfred Van Dyne, whose job it is to inspect the fire equipment and set standards and qualifications, should be the supplier of this same equipment. Samuel Brown, president, asked Jackman Vodrey, assistant city solicitor, for an opinion.

Vodrey said he had been looking for a ruling since he had been approached about the matter before the board meeting. He reported he had been unable to find a similar instance or ruling, adding he did not know whether the Department of Education would approve or object to the situation. Rodfong's motion failed for the lack of a second.

A MOTION was then made to defer action on this bid. It was defeated 3 to 2. Harry McConville then moved the quotation be accepted. This motion also died for lack of a second. The matter was then dropped.

Action was deferred on a bid received from Celli Music Center for music stands. This was the only quotation received, and board members indicated they would seek other quotations also.

The bid received from the Campus Equipment Co. for teachers' podiums was rejected because, although it met specifications, it was not the equipment wanted. New figures will be asked.

Also rejected was a bid for audio learning systems. The company bidding on this equipment had supplied only a catalog, and since this equipment would require an expenditure of approximately $6,000 or more, the board members said they would like to see this equipment before purchasing. Beatty was asked to readvertise for bids.

Mimeograph and spirit duplicator bids were also rejected. The original bid asked for hand-operated equipment. The board decided, upon the recommendation of Carl Pelini, assistant superintendent and Blair to ask for bids for electrically - operated equipment. Since only one bid had been received for electric, bids for this equipment will be asked from other companies which submitted bids for the hand operated equipment.

BIDS FOR shorthand listening systems and for teachers' high back chairs also were deferred. The high back chairs were to be used with certain type teachers' podium, and if this type is not subsequently purchased, the high back chairs will not be needed. The board wanted to study further the shorthand listening systems.

No bids were received on other equipment, including work benches and vises, electric slicers, sewing machines, music files, conductors' chair, music folio, coat racks, hospital cots, loose custodial equipment, loose home economics equipment, special educational instructional equipment, movable blackboards, and end tables and lamps.

Board members said they were disappointed that more bids and quotations were not received from local firms, and if anyone would like to have more information concerning the equipment that was not bid on or for bids that were rejected, they should contact Beatty immediately.

Only one bid was received for truck and snow removal equipment. Action was not taken on this bid. Action on all deferred and new bids will be taken at the next board meeting.

Bachman Quits As Findlay High Athletic Director

FINDLAY, Oio (AP) — Carl Bachman, one of the state's winningest high school basketball coaches, has retired for a second time.

Bachman, 65, retired Monday as athletic director of Findlay High School, where he coached 34 years. He retired as coach in 1956 after a highly successful career.

But despite his over - all 477 victories compared to only 126 losses, a standout in his career is a national collegiate football record he holds. It unlikely will ever be broken.

As a place kicker for Bowling Green State University in the 1920s, Bachman booted 19 extra points in the same game as Bowling Green routed Findlay College 151-0. He won 13 letters in five sports at BG.

Bachman's 1948 Findlay High team won the state basketball championship with a 27-0 record. He had four other regular season unbeaten teams and in one seven-year stretch won 138 of 150 games.

Teacher Leave OK'd

Board Approves Staff Insurance

A new hospitalization insurance program for city teachers was approved by the East Liverpool Board of Education during a 4½-hour meeting Monday.

The board also established a personal leave policy for the faculty and named instructors for the summer school program.

THE BOARD adopted the Blue Cross-Blue Shield hospitalization insurance program, plus a major medical and life insurance accidental death and dismemberment policy supplied by the Phoenix Mutual Life Insurance Co. through Associated Hospital Services.

The cost for single coverage will be $13.93 and $33.98 for family coverage. The board has agreed to pay $10.50 of this cost for any employe who desires to join the program. If an employe does not want this coverage, he will not be required to do so provided he writes a letter to the administration so stating and waiving the $10.50.

Samuel Brown, president, opposed one provision of the program which would restrict payment of the board's share for employes who do not want to participate. He said he believes the board's share should be paid to employes for use on any plan they wish.

ALL FULL-TIME salaried employes of the board will be alloued up to one day's absence each year for emergency situations not covered in the regular sick leave policy.

This personal leave policy permits absence for accidents involving the employe or immediate family or property of either; court appearances as litigant or witness; travel conditions which make reporting for work impossible and other similar emergencies that cannot be given attention at other than work time.

Also allowed will be observance of religious holidays that require total abstinence from work; graduation exercises for the employes, spouse, or child; college comprehensive exams for teacher employes; and spouse, daughter or son leaving for military service.

Such days are non-accumulative or transferable from one school year to another, they will not be deducted from sick leave, and cannot be taken before or after a school holiday. Evidence indicating to the board abuse of personal leave shall be considered just cause for dismissal from service.

This personal leave policy was drawn up by the East Liverpool Teachers Association and approved by the board for one year. If at the end of that time it is working smoothly and advantage or abuse has not been made of the privilege, the board may then decide to continue it and possibly extend it to two days instead of one.

Board members said that although the teachers intended this policy for certificated personnel, they wanted to include non-certificated personnel, and the board included the latter when making approval.

NINETEEN HIGH school teachers were appointed to teach in the summer school program.

They include Keith Langdon, JoAnn Capehart, Helen McGregor, Stanley Grzbienowski, Frank Moss, Joseph Mowad, Roger Sharp, Marjorie Hoffman, Charles DeJulius, James Quinn, David Thorne, Robert McNea, Ralph Hutchison, Joseph Mitchell, Wilbert Moore, James Potts, Paul Hruska, Norma Carpenter and Charles Ridenour.

Ridenour, who formerly taught in the city schools, leaving because of family illness, is an industrial arts teacher.

Enrollment for summer school is over 400, and if it increases, another teacher may be appointed.

Supt. Paul Blair also was authorized to hire teachers for the junior high summer program. They have not yet been named.

The Life Adjustment Program Curriculum, which is paid for by federal funds, will be supervised by Joseph Cochran. Mrs. Edna Jones will be in charge of health services and Robert McNamara will serve as psychologist. Reading will be under the direction of Mrs. Mary R. Bebout, Mrs. Roberta Lane and Mrs. Mary Alice Slaven.

Miss Kaye Edwards and Mrs. Jean Lampman will conduct art classes and Don Adams and Mrs. Judy Fisk will teach music.

Shop will be under the direction of Charles Fazzone and be taught by Mrs. Margaret Hall and Mrs. Joanne Six. The custodian will be Roy Martin.

IN OTHER action, the board granted permission for the high school cheerleaders to use the Memorial Auditorium parking lot Saturday for a car wash. The group will pay $5 for the water they use and will clean up the lot when finished.

The resignation of Mrs. Marilyn Lang, elementary teacher at Westgate, was accepted. Mrs. Lang, the wife of James Lang, will join her husband now stationed at Norfolk, Va., with the Navy. Resignations also were accepted from Charles R. Snyder, West Point, a bus driver for 36 years who is retiring, and from George Burbridge, Westgate custodian who has reached the compulsory retirement age. Burbridge served the school district for 11 years.

H. Jud English asked the board for permission to use the Westgate parking area June 20-22 during the Tri-State Pottery Festival. Persons parking at Westgate will be transported to the festival. The board granted permission for use of the lot.

A leave of absence was granted for six months beginning Sept. 1 to Mrs. Rachael Emmerling who has been ill. Mrs. Emmerling is a cook at Westgate.

CONTRACTS FOR paper were approved by the board, with Dobson-Evans, Columbus, 300 reams yellow line paper, $.50 a ream; J. R. Holcomb, Cleveland, newsprint 8 by 12, 300 reams, $.455 a ream and newsprint 12 by 18, 105 reams, $.91 a ream; Kurtz Brothers, Clearfield, Pa., theme paper, 30 reams, $.721 a ream, and 2,500 reams 8½ by 11 ditto paper at $.90 per ream, Borden Office Equipment, Steubenville.

Jackman Vodrey, assistant city solicitor, announced that sewer assessment notices will be mailed this week. Robert Beatty, architect, read a letter from the Sayre Electric Co. listing the items taken when the workshop was entered on May 21. He also requested that the board take under advisement and study the situation concerning the parking area which is completed.

Beatty stated that the specifications for the lot were originally good blacktop like the drives, but that the state department insisted the tar and slag as now applied would have to be used.

He said the tar is seeping through and water eventually will do the same and the board will have a problem of water running down and eroding under the driveways. Beatty recommended the board apply a 2½-inch coating of asphalt. This will be considered in the future.

Wellsville High Holds Exercises

"Tomorrow is here," Dr. Perry Gresham, president of Bethany College, told members of the graduating class of Wellsville High School and a capacity crowd of friends and relatives during the school's 93rd commencement exercises at Beacom Memorial gymnasium Monday.

During his address "This Is Tomorrow," he said the time is past when a strong back and weak mind are sufficient. The most important thing to do now is to develop the mind, he added.

—:—

"THERE IS no evidence of an advance in intelligence since the time of Socrates," he pointed out, but people in general are more educated.

Spending a lot of time in universities is not the only answer, he explained, "because learning by experience is also very important."

"Tomorrow is here! Get at it!" he concluded.

Beginning the evening was an organ prelude by Anthony DiCello, a graduating senior. The processional and recessional were played by the high school band under the direction of Robert Wescott. The band also presented a special number, "Buglers Holiday."

Selections were presented by the concert choir under the direction of Miss Marian Izak.

William Menough, principal, introduced the class and William Ferrall, school board president, and Charles Glass, board vice president, presented diplomas. The guest speaker was introduced by Donald Lowe, superintendent of Wellsville schools.

AN INNOVATION in the ceremony was the simultaneous changing of the tassels, led by Eddie Mae Murphy, president of the senior class.

Charles Wilfing, principal of Daw Junior High School, introduced and presented trophies to the four honor students. They are Randy Clark, Mary Alice Doyle and Mary Judith Kemeny, valedictorians, and Mary Hamilton, salutatorian.

The invocation and benediction were given by the Rev. William Harper.

Taft Reserving Move On Proposed Tax Bill

CINCINNATI (AP)—U.S. Rep. Robert Taft Jr., R-Ohio, said Monday he is reserving judgment on whether to vote for the tax bill now pending in Congress.

Taft said he wanted to see whether urban-area Democrats would vote against the tax hike and get a "free ride" if the Republicans support it.

To face up to the political situation quite openly," he said, "I would hate for the tax bill to go through as a 'Republican program' with the administration making budget cuts in sensitive areas that would give the Democrats a ready-made campaign issue."

East Canton Board, School Head To Quit

CANTON, Ohio (AP)—Members of the East Canton Board of Education and the school superintendent have announced they will resign as a result of a controversy with teachers.

The teachers, members of the East Canton Education Association, voted Sunday to invoke sanctions against the suburb's public school system in protest of the board's refusal to rehire a junior high school teacher of 12 years experience without giving a reason.

Dr. Joel Davis, chairman of the Board of Education, said following an informal meeting of the Board Monday night that "because of the situation in which the teachers have placed the school board and the superintendent," the board members, the clerk and Supt. Donald Thomas would resign at the next board meeting Wednesday.

Other board members besides Davis are Kenneth Varian, James Mark and Walter Shearer.

The education association asked the 57 teachers in the East Canton system not to renew their contracts. It also asked the Ohio Education Association, with which the East Canton association is affiliated, to apply statewide sanctions.

Son of the late Rev. John G. Reinartz, who was pastor of St. John's Evangelical Lutheran Church here, and himself a former pastor of the local church, Dr. Reinartz is now president of the Lutheran Theological Southern Seminary at Columbia, S. C.

He was secretary of the United Lutheran Church of America from 1947 through 1960 and served as president and secretary of the National Lutheran Council.

His father was a nephew of Johannes Huppertz, the first Lutheran missionary to Borneo, and of Sister Elizabeth Huppertz, leader of the first four Protestant deaconesses to come to the U.S. in 1849 and who helped found Passavant Hospital at Pittsburgh, the first general Protestant Hospital in this country.

His mother, Sarah Julia Paulina Eppling, was a daughter of a member of the four deaconesses, Sister Paulina Ludwig, who later wed the Rev. Frederick Eppling.

Dr. Reinartz was born here June 21, 1901, and was baptized by his father at the church. He attended schools here and was graduated from Gettysburg College with honors in 1924. He was named to Phi Beta Kappa, was captain of the debating and track teams, and composed the college's Alma Mater.

He studied at Harvard University and at Lutheran Theological Seminary, receiving his bachelor of Divinity Degree in 1931 and master degree in theology in 1933.

He was ordained in 1929 at St. John's Lutheran Church at Scranton. Dr. Reinartz was a graduate fellow and instructor at Philadelphia Seminary until 1930, when he succeeded his father as pastor of the church here.

In 1938, Dr. Reinartz became the first secretary of Promotion for the United Lutheran Church of America. In 1945 he was called as pastor of Holy Trinity Lutheran Church at New York. He was elected secretary of the United Lutheran Church in 1946, and held the post for 14 years.

He also served as a member of the general board of the National Council of Churches of Christ USA in 1950-60.

Council Airs Street Work

EAST PALESTINE — The summer street program was discussed by Council at its meeting Monday night.

Four tons of blacktopping were laid Monday by city crews in areas hard hit by frost damage and further work will be done as weather permits.

Council formally approved a resolution protesting to the Interstate Commerce Commission the proposal by the Penn Central Co. to discontinue a stop here by Train No. 53, the only westbound passenger train now serving the city.

Complaints about weeds, hedges and dogs were reviewed. Council will meet June 17, the final session before the July and August recess.

Council Donates Rogers Jail To Village Resident

ROGERS — The former village jail along Depot St. was donated by Council Monday night to Ed Walters of Depot St. "for whatever use he wishes."

Walters resides adjacent to the former jail. At one time the Columbiana County Historical Society had shown interest in the structure built in 1896, but no representative has contacted village officials.

Walters indicated he plans to place a house trailer on the site.

Bills totaling $324 were approved. Street Commissioner Thurman Mercer said street supplies have been obtained for summer work.

The next meeting will be July 1.

Train Stranded As Track Breaks

LISBON — A track crew is due from Niles today to repair a broken rail which stranded an Erie-Lackawanna train here about 7:30 p. m. Monday.

The train crew — engineer, fireman, conductor and two brakemen — called a Youngstown taxi for transportation home. The two-unit diesel engine chugged all night. Railroad officials point out the diesels run 200,000 miles without an overhaul, so there is no point in shutting them down.

There was no derailment. The track broke about 50 yards east of the S. Lincoln Ave. (Route 164) crossing in a section where the ties are bad. The break trapped the engine and approximately 20 loaded coal cars which will be hauled north to Niles when the track is repaired today.

Lisbon is the southern end of the branch from Niles.

Area Man Penalized For Drunken Driving

EAST PALESTINE — Lee Edgar Heaton of Rogers RD 1 was fined $250 and costs and jailed for three days by County Judge Barry Dickson Monday on a charge of driving while intoxicated.

A charge of petty larceny at Hills in Calcutta against Isabelle Daman of Akron was dismissed by Judge Dickson.

Four new teachers were hired by the Western Beaver County School Board of Directors Monday night.

Miss Jane Elizabeth Piper of Ambridge, a 1968 Geneva College graduate, was employed as an elementary instructor; Miss Constance White of Pittsburgh, a 1968 graduate of Grove City College, was hired for the elementary program; Mrs. Joan Doyle of Midland was hired to teach secondary English, and Robert Dominici of Midland was employed as a secondary science instructor.

The board accepted the resignation of Mrs. Priscilla Watt of Sewickley as a Latin-English instructor at the high school.

The board authorized the band to participate in the Midland July 4 celebration. The business club will attend summer performances of the Kenley Players at Warren, Ohio, and the Civic Light Opera at Pittsburgh.

Contracts for athletic supplies were awarded. They total $3,360. General bills totaling $72,753 were paid, including $55,291 for salaries. Cafeteria bills totaled $5,035 and athletic bills paid were $626.

The next meeting will be July 1 at 8 p. m.

ANN LANDERS

Are We Crazier Today?

By Ann Landers

Dear Ann Landers: Are people crazier today than at any time in the history of man? I believe the answer is "yes." The item I just read in the newspaper is pretty good evidence.

It seems a Mrs. P. Haverland of Charleston, W. Va., had nothing better to do with her time than to try to break the record for being buried alive. The record is held by some fleabrain who lay in an underground casket for 75 days. Mrs. Haverland was sure she could set a new record.

I'd like to suggest that anyone who has 75 days to blow ought to go to some hospital and volunteer to break a record visiting the sick or writing letters for the disabled or just cheering up the lonely people in the nursing homes. Do you agree, Ann? — CHICAGO READER.

-:-

Closed Doors

Dear Ann: Paul and I plan to be married in September. Paul comes from a large family and so do I. We were both born and raised in this city and have a great many friends. Since my folks can't afford to give me a big wedding we've decided to have a simple ceremony with only the immediate family present.

Now the problem: People we know have been asking us if they can come to the wedding. I think it's poor manners to fish for an invitation, but these folks feel very friendly and they don't see it that way.

I've tried to be evasive and noncommittal but it's getting more difficult all the time. What do you suggest? — ON-THE-SPOT BRIDE.

Dear Bride: Be direct and honest. Say, "I wish we could invite all our dear friends to the wedding but it isn't possible. Then you can add, "We hope you'll come to see us when we're settled" — if you WANT them to, that is.

Short Rations

Dear Ann: Please print this letter. A million women will love you.

Why don't the mothers of America teach their children when they go to someone's home for dinner NOT to ask for a third helping of meat or a second dessert?

A family of eight (six kids) came to dinner last night and I was a nervous wreck from the beginning of the meal to the end. There were 12 at our table, including some important business associates of my husband.

Those kids made a nervous wreck out of me with "more meat, please," even before the adults had a chance to finish their portions. I thought surely their mother would say something but she just sat there as if the kids belonged to someone else and let them make pigs of themselves.

For dessert I baked a triple layer chocolate cake (10-inch tins) with mocha icing. This is a pretty big cake, Ann, but it wasn't enough.

If you've never been in a spot where you've had to worry about running short of food, you haven't missed anything. Please Ann, be a friend and print this letter. — CLEANED OUT.

-:-

Dear Cleaned: Children should be taught never to ask for a second helping of anything when they are guests. If the hostess offers, fine; otherwise they should eat what is served and if they are still hungry, another roll or a slice of bread should satisfy them.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Review, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

New Bids Slated On Rt. 7 Bypass

Bids for the Alacanna bypass —the final segment of relocated Route 7 — will be reopened in view of the $1½ million difference between the apparent low bid and the state estimate, officials of Ohio Highway Department District 11 at New Philadelphia reported Monday.

The apparent low bid of $6,243,910, submitted by the Carl M. Geupel Construction Co. of Worthington last Tuesday, was far above the state estimate of $4,880,000.

An estimate of $6,273,000 was submitted by the other company bidding for the contract, Levi Kimball, deputy director, pointed out.

The state will re-evaluate its estimate on the 3½-mile, four-lane, six-bridge span between Toronto and Steubenville, Kimball said. The new bidding will be opened later this year, he added.

HINTS FROM HELOISE

Easy Sliding Door Lock

DEAR HELOISE: My husband travels a lot and I have always disliked being alone at night.

So I would feel safer, he went to a hardware store to buy an extra lock for our sliding glass door that opens onto the patio. The clerk told him he didn't have a lock that could be used on that type door. But he did tell him how to solve the problem.

Heloise

He told my husband to lay a broom handle or stick down and measure the distance of the track between the wall and the sliding door when it was closed. Then cut to fit. When this is placed in the track, the door could not be moved. He did and it sure worked.

I was so thrilled that I just had to write and let others know of this terrific hint. B.L.

Hon, you're just as right as you can be! I know — we tried it, using wall molding. Works like a charm. HELOISE

DEAR HELOISE: I learned a valuable hint when a car door was slammed into the side of my car.

The other car was painted white and left a noticeable mark on the dark blue finish of my car. (Fortunately, it wasn't dented.)

The white mark, as well as a green smear on the front fender, was completely removed by a vigorous application of silver polish. The original finish was not damaged or harmed in any way and no trace remains of the paint smears.

Anyone having this problem might give it a try. It worked for me. LOU.

Dear Heloise: I've sure found a way to stop that squeaky noise of door and cabinet door hinges.

I just rubbed a little petroleum jelly on each side of the hinge, worked the door back and forth a few times, and the noise stopped almost instantly. ROSIE DeVINCENT.

DEAR HELOISE: I read the hint in your column about using hair spray to relax a permanent that comes out too curly. As an ex-beautician, I would like to tell you how I solved this problem.

I just took some of the waving solution and rubbed it through the hair and combed immediately. Then shampooed. It worked every time.

As a matter of fact, the entire permanent can be taken out if the solution is left on about 10 minutes then shampooed. But if the hair is too curly in spots, just apply the solution to those places only.

This same procedure can be done when one has naturally curly in spots, just apply the the curl a little. RETIRED BEAUTICIAN.

Thanks, Shug, for cluing us in on your secret. HELOISE.

DEAR HELOISE: Today I can't seem to get anything done.

I guess I have spring fever. But I don't have any spring . . . MOTHER.

DEAR HELOISE: I made tops for playsuits out of my small daughter's outgrown dresses. I ripped the sleeves and collars out and bound the edges in matching bias tape.

Makes a cute outfit and she is getting additional wear from these dresses. THERESA TANNERT.

DEAR HELOISE: I put up an adjustable ironing board in our guest room. Sure makes a dandy substitute luggage rack. MARY.

Infant Ohio Girl Recovering After Suffering Rat Bites

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — Approximately 40 rat bites cover little Juanita Marie Blake's hands and feet. Police officers said the bites were the worst they had ever seen.

The 11-month-old girl suffered 20 bites on one foot alone.

But with her hands and feet wrapped in bandages and after receiving tetanus shots, little Juanita is recovering.

The youngest of Peggy Blake's five children, Juanita was attacked by a large rat Sunday morning. She fell from her bed and the rodent pounced on her.

A neighbor described the rats as "big as cats."

Mrs. Blake, 28, was awakened by Junita's cries, and as she switched on a light a large rat fled from the bedroom and escaped under a water heater in the bathroom.

The young mother said she has been plagued with rats since moving into a $55-a-month duplex apartment on Dayton's West Side two months ago. "They come from everywhere," she said.

"I asked the landlady to get rid of them. All she did was bring me poison."

But fearing her children might accidentally get hold of the poison, Mrs. Blake bought rat repellant. But it didn't keep the rodents away.

Mrs. Blake identified her landlady as Mrs. E. E. Campbell of suburban Kettering. Mrs. Campbell said she did not own the building but managed it for a Baltimore, Md., woman

Mrs. Campbell said she was last in the house two weeks ago and "Mrs. Blake didn't complain to me then . . . She said everything was working fine."

Young Votes Against Proposal On Wheeler

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sens. Stephen M. Young, D-Ohio, and Lee Metcalf, D-Mont. cast the only negative votes Monday as the Senate completed action permitting Gen. Earle G. Wheeler to continue as chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff. President Johnson requested the action to permit Wheeler to serve a fifth year at the post.

Young opposed the proposal, because Wheeler's tenure includes the entire period of U.S. escalation in Vietnam, which the senator called "an agonizing period in the history of our country."

ANN LANDERS

Are We Crazier Today?

By Ann Landers

Dear Ann Landers: Are people crazier today than at any time in the history of man? I believe the answer is "yes." The item I just read in the newspaper is pretty good evidence.

It seems a Mrs. P. Haverland of Charleston, W. Va., had nothing better to do with her time than to try to break the record for being buried alive. The record is held by some fleabrain who lay in an underground casket for 75 days. Mrs. Haverland was sure she could set a new record.

I'd like to suggest that anyone who has 75 days to blow ought to go to some hospital and volunteer to break a record visiting the sick or writing letters for the disabled or just cheering up the lonely people in the nursing homes. Do you agree, Ann? — CHICAGO READER.

Closed Doors

Dear Ann: Paul and I plan to be married in September. Paul comes from a large family and so do I. We were both born and raised in this city and have a great many friends. Since my folks can't afford to give me a big wedding we've decided to have a simple ceremony with only the immediate family present.

Now the problem: People we know have been asking us if they can come to the wedding. I think it's poor manners to fish for an invitation, but these folks feel very friendly and they don't see it that way.

I've tried to be evasive and noncommittal but it's getting more difficult all the time. What do you suggest? — ON-THE-SPOT BRIDE.

Dear Bride: Be direct and honest. Say, "I wish we could invite all our dear friends to the wedding but it isn't possible. Then you can add, "We hope you'll come to see us when we're settled" — if you WANT them to, that is.

Short Rations

Dear Ann: Please print this letter. A million women will love you.

Why don't the mothers of America teach their children when they go to someone's home for dinner NOT to ask for a third helping of meat or a second dessert?

A family of eight (six kids) came to dinner last night and I was a nervous wreck from the beginning of the meal to the end. There were 12 at our table, including some important business associates of my husband.

Those kids made a nervous wreck out of me with "more meat, please," even before the adults had a chance to finish their portions. I thought surely their mother would say something but she just sat there as if the kids belonged to someone else and let them make pigs of themselves.

For dessert I baked a triple layer chocolate cake (10-inch tins) with mocha icing. This is a pretty big cake, Ann, but it wasn't enough.

If you've never been in a spot where you've had to worry about running short of food, you haven't missed anything. Please Ann, be a friend and print this letter. — CLEANED OUT.

-:-

Dear Cleaned: Children should be taught never to ask for a second helping of anything when they are guests. If the hostess offers, fine; otherwise they should eat what is served and if they are still hungry, another roll or a slice of bread should satisfy them.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Review, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Sports Whirled

By TURK PIERCE
Review Sports Editor

The area high school spring sports season has slogged to a close, almost unnoticed.

Rain postponed almost all games for the last 10 days, and finally the Buckeye Border Conference, where the rained-out games meant something, and the area members of WPIAL Section 4, whose games meant nothing, called off the postponed contests.

Surprisingly enough, the spring sports season is harder to cover than fall and winter. The reason for this is many more contests in the spring and less interest. Many correspondents just don't seem to want to call. Many call late, like the woman who called at 9:30, figuring that no one would be at The Review before 9 a.m. Ah, if it were only true! I'm here at 7 a.m. every day and others are here before that. The sports deadline is 8:30, and that means that all sports stories are supposed to be written by then, not only called in by then.

I'D LIKE TO thank all correspondents, especially East Liverpool golf coach Dave Thorne and Stanton track coach Harry Diehl for being the earliest. There were other good correspondents but they were a district minority. The coaches who didn't seem interested in getting results in The Review probably won't read this.

The WPIAL was especially outfoxed by the weather, starting the baseball season later than usual to take advantage of the good May weather. Unfortunately, there were only four days in May that it didn't rain, and many sections could not complete their seasons. So a WPIAL committee declared winners in incomplete sections and set up their tournament. Ohio, starting its tournament in April, got most of the early round games in without hindrance from the weather. Center Twp. won Section 4, Hopewell Section 5 and Ellwood City Section 6 of the WPIAL.

RICH BUZIN and Bill Lenkaitis of Youngstown, who started as linemen for Penn State, will play in the coaches All-America football game June 28 in Atlanta.

CLEVELAND'S Jose Azcue, who went 5 for 5 in the opening win over the Senators Sunday, had only 13 hits all season prior to the outburst. Duke Sims has been doing most of Cleveland's catching, and played the second game. Azcue is batting .273 and Sims .236.

OHIO U.'s Emmett Taylor continues to burn up the cinders, a :46.0 440 to set a new record at the Central Collegiate Meet at Notre Dame over the weekend. Ohio U. was second as a team. Taylor will be the underdog if he meets Villanova's Larry James in the NCAA meet, however, as James did a fantastic :45.5 in the IC4As at Philadelphia Saturday.

IN THE Ohio-West Virginia football game at Wheeling Saturday night, featuring mostly stars of the OVAC schools in both states, Ohio won 6-0 on a three-yard pass from Wintersville's Don Young to Ron Bean of Union Local on Ohio's first possession of the ball. Rain and mud hampered further scoring.

White Sox Lose

By HERSCHEL NISSENSON
Associated Press Sports Writer

Alvin Dark and Eddie Stanky were roommates with the old Boston Braves and New York Giants. Maybe that's when they dreamed up some of the moves they made Monday night as rival American League managers.

The long-time buddies matched wits and troops for 14 innings before Cleveland outfielder Jose Vidal bobbed up with a piece of unbeatable strategy—a home run that gave Dark's Indians a 3-2 victory over Stanky's Chicago White Sox.

The Dark-Stanky thinking match overshadowed a triple play by the New York Yankees that came too late to prevent a 4-3 loss to Minnesota. Elsewhere, Boston edged Detroit 4-3 and Baltimore downed California 2-0. Oakland and Washington were not scheduled.

Stanky also changed (1) pitchers with a one-strike count on the batter and (2) second baseman in the middle of an inning.

Dark wasn't far behind. Chico Salmon, his left fielder, moved to second base in the eighth and played third, second and third again, all in the 14th. Ken Suarez, a catcher by trade, found himself at third base in the 13th and at second, third and second again in the 14th.

Minnesota pushed across its winning run on two walks and a Yankee error in the eighth inning. The Twins threatened to get more.

With the bases loaded and none out, John Roseboro lined the ball back to pitcher Dooley Womack, who threw to third baseman Bobby Cox to double Tony Oliva. Cox' relay to Mickey Mantle nipped Bob Allison trying to scramble back to the bag.

The Twins had gone ahead 2-0 in the third on run-scoring singles by Roseboro and Cesar Tovar. The Yankees scored their three runs in the sixth on a two-run single by Andy Kosco and a hit by Joe Pepitone. Rich Rollins homered for the Twins' tying run in the seventh.

Jim Lonborg, pitching in relief, worked out of a bases-loaded jam in his first Boston appearance since the 1967 World Series as the Red Sox beat Detroit. But he needed last-out help from Sparky Lyle.

The Sox had seen a 4-1 lead trimmed to 4-3 and the Tigers had two baserunners in the seventh when Lonborg, just over a knee operation, took the mound to a standing ovation. He hit Bill Freehan with a pitch to load the bases but got Willie Horton to ground out.

After Gates Brown doubled and Dick McAuliffe walked in the ninth Lonborg fed a double play ball to Mickey Stanley. Lyle then came on to retire Jim Northrup.

The setback reduced Detroit's league lead to two games over Baltimore. The Orioles blanked California behind Dave McNally's five-hit, 12-strikeout pitching and Boog Powell's two-run homer in the fourth.

Boyer, Colavito Lead LA To 2-0 Win Over Pirates

Veale Defeated

By DICK COUCH
Associated Press Sports Writer

The Ken Boyer-Rocky Colavito entry, out of the money a year ago in Chicago, is beginning to pay its way for the Los Angeles Dodgers.

Boyer and Colavito, the aging sluggers obtained by the Dodgers this spring in separate deals with the Chicago White Sox, delivered successive run-scoring singles in the first inning Monday night, triggering Los Angeles to a 2-0 victory over Pittsburgh.

Staked to the early lead, southpaw Claude Osteen scattered seven hits and blanked the Pirates with the help of four double plays.

The National League leading St. Louis Cardinals drubbed Houston 7-2 for their sixth consecutive victory; Atlanta grabbed second place by edging Cincinnati 3-2 and Philadelphia nipped San Francisco 1-0 in other games. The Chicago Cubs and New York Mets were idle.

The Dodgers purchased Colavito, 34, shortly before the start of the season and signed Boyer, 37, as a free agent last month in an effort ot beef up their attack. The White Sox picked up both veterans last season for the same reason, but could finish no better than fourth—although the pair combined to drive in 50 runs.

Monday night, Boyer hiked his batting average 25 points to .304 with a double and the RBI single in three trips to the plate. Colavito, 1-for-3 against the Pirates, moved up four points to an even .200. The Dodgers, meanwhile, returned to the .500 level and remained only 3½ games off the lead.

Osteen, who struck out six, brought his record to 4-7 at the expense of Pirate southpaw Bob Veale, 2-6, who has been given a total of eight runs to work with in his six setbacks.

Mike Shannon drove in three runs with two doubles and a sacrifice fly and Orlando Cepeda delivered two more with a single and his sixth homer as the Cardinals held first place by one game over Atlanta.

Hank Aaron bounced into a force play in the sixth inning, stole second and scored on Tito Francona's two-out single, breaking a 2-2 tie at Cincinnati.

The Reds grabbed a 2-0 first inning lead against winner Ken Johnson, 3-3, but Joe Torre's two-run homer pulled the Braves even in the fourth. After Francona's single broke the deadlock, Claude Raymond pitched three scoreless innings of relief, protecting the one-run edge.

Chris Short stopped the Giants on five hits and Philadelphia pushed over an unearned run against Ray Sadecki in the seventh on Bill White's single, a passed ball by catcher Dick Dietz and a single by Roberto Pena.

The Giants, who had two runners thrown out at the plate in failing to give Sadecki a run for the third time in his last three starts, slipped from second to third place in the race—1½ games off the pace.

Burbick's and Littens were winners as Pony League play got started last night.

Snead At Indianapolis For Open Qualifying

By BOB GREEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

Sam Snead, now 56 but jaunty as ever, set out once again today in his lifelong quest for the big one that got away—the U. S. Open Golf Championship.

Old Sam, winner of more than 100 major tournaments but a lifelong also-ran in the Open, was among a group of 57 pros and amateurs seeking 14 berths in a sectional qualification at Indianapolis.

Other 36-hole qualifying rounds today also were scheduled at Bakersfield, Calif., San Francisco, Washington, Detroit, St. Louis, Montclair, N.J., and Pittsburgh.

At stake are 71 spots in the 150 man field that will play for the Open title on the Oak Hill Country Club course at Rochester, N.Y., June 13-16. Sectional qualifying in five locations filed 45 berths Monday.

Most of the top name touring pros, including defending champion Jack Nicklaus, are in the group of 34 exempt from qualifying rounds.

Also exempt are the Open and PGA champions of the last five years, last year's 15 leading money winners, the top 15 finishers in the 1967 Open, and British Open champion Robert De Vicenzo.

Most of the regular tourists not exempt fired their qualifying round Monday at the par 72 Atlanta Country Club course, where they completed the Atlanta Classic last weekend.

There were some notable casualties, including four former Open champions—Jack Fleck, Dick Mayer, Tommy Bolt and Cary Middlecoff, who won in 1956, the last time the tournament was played at Oak Hill.

Former PGA champions Lionel and Jay Hebert and flashy Chi Chi Rodriguez also failed to make the 146 cut.

Dave Stockton led the field of 29 Atlanta qualifiers with a 138, including a six-under-par 66 on his second round. Hideyo Sugimoto of Japan was second at 139. He had a morning round of 66, including a hole in one on the par 3 sixth hole.

The best round of the day was a 70-65—135 by Don Bies on the par 71 Inglewood Country Club course in Seattle, where three spots were open.

Bob Glass Qualifies For State

Bob Glass of Oak Glen qualified to go to the West Virginia state high school golf championships at Parkersburg Country Club Monday by shooting a 79 in regional play at Oglebay Park in Wheeling yesterday.

As a team, Oak Glen was eighth in the regionals, as Phil Hudok had an 89, Jim Szymanek a 92, Gregg Todd a 93 and Jack Burnquist a 94.

Wheeling won with 317, Weirton had 322, Sistersville 334, Moundsville and New Martinsville 345, Wellsburg 346, Triadelphia 351, Oak Glen 353, St. Mary's 359, Follansbee 367, Benwood 371 and Warwood 378.

Tom Rowe of Weirton and Tom Murphy of Wheeling were co-medalists with 74s. Glass and Jim Murphy of Wheeling were next with 79s. The top three individuals go to state and Glass won a playoff. The top two teams also advance to state.

Yankees Top Tigers 36-2 In HIHS Play

The Hammondsville Yankees smothered the No. 16 Tigers 36-2 in an HIHS League game last night.

Gail Parsons was the winning pitcher and Mark Allison the loser.

Jon Talbott had two home runs and his brother Danny was the winning pitcher as the Highlandtown Apaches whipped the Salineville Cubs 14-5. Greg Koontz took the loss.

John Higgins had a grand slam as the Salineville Chiefs beat the Hammondsville Red Sox 9-3. Dave Brown took the win and Mark Crowe the loss.

The Salineville Mets outslugged the Irondale Indians 21-16, as Kanute Dugan got the win and Bill Allen took the loss.

Sports Whirled

By TURK PIERCE
Review Sports Editor

The area high school spring sports season has slogged to a close, almost unnoticed.

Rain postponed almost all games for the last 10 days, and finally the Buckeye Border Conference, where the rained-out games meant something, and the area members of WPIAL Section 4, whose games meant nothing, called off the postponed contests.

Surprisingly enough, the spring sports season is harder to cover than fall and winter. The reason for this is many more contests in the spring and less interest. Many correspondents just don't seem to want to call. Many call late, like the woman who called at 9:30, figuring that no one would be at The Review before 9 a.m. Ah, if it were only true! I'm here at 7 a.m. every day and others are here before that. The sports deadline is 8:30, and that means that all sports stories are supposed to be written by then, not only called in by then.

I'D LIKE TO thank all correspondents, especially East Liverpool golf coach Dave Thorne and Stanton track coach Harry Diehl for being the earliest. There were other good correspondents but they were a district minority. The coaches who didn't seem interested in getting results in The Review probably won't read this.

The WPIAL was especially outfoxed by the weather, starting the baseball season later than usual to take advantage of the good May weather. Unfortunately, there were only four days in May that it didn't rain, and many sections could not complete their seasons. So a WPIAL committee declared winners in incomplete sections and set up their tournament. Ohio, starting its tournament in April, got most of the early round games in without hindrance from the weather. Center Twp. won Section 4, Hopewell Section 5 and Ellwood City Section 6 of the WPIAL.

RICH BUZIN and Bill Lenkaitis of Youngstown, who started as linemen for Penn State, will play in the coaches All-America football game June 28 in Atlanta.

CLEVELAND'S Jose Azcue, who went 5 for 5 in the opening win over the Senators Sunday, had only 13 hits all season prior to the outburst. Duke Sims has been doing most of Cleveland's catching, and played the second game. Azcue is batting .273 and Sims .236.

OHIO U.'s Emmett Taylor continues to burn up the cinders, a :46.0 440 to set a new record at the Central Collegiate Meet at Notre Dame over the weekend. Ohio U. was second as a team. Taylor will be the underdog if he meets Villanova's Larry James in the NCAA meet, however, as James did a fantastic :45.5 in the IC4As at Philadelphia Saturday.

IN THE Ohio-West Virginia football game at Wheeling Saturday night, featuring mostly stars of the OVAC schools in both states, Ohio won 6-0 on a three-yard pass from Wintersville's Don Young to Ron Bean of Union Local on Ohio's first possession of the ball. Rain and mud hampered further scoring.

White Sox Lose

By HERSCHEL NISSENSON
Associated Press Sports Writer

Alvin Dark and Eddie Stanky were roommates with the old Boston Braves and New York Giants. Maybe that's when they dreamed up some of the moves they made Monday night as rival American League managers.

The long-time buddies matched wits and troops for 14 innings before Cleveland outfielder Jose Vidal bobbed up with a piece of unbeatable strategy—a home run that gave Dark's Indians a 3-2 victory over Stanky's Chicago White Sox.

The Dark-Stanky thinking match overshadowed a triple play by the New York Yankees that came too late to prevent a 4-3 loss to Minnesota. Elsewhere, Boston edged Detroit 4-3 and Baltimore downed California 2-0. Oakland and Washington were not scheduled.

Tommy Davis started in left field for Chicago, moved to right field and back to left in the seventh inning and to right again in the eighth. Buddy Bradford made the scene in reverse. He opened in right, went to left and back to right in the seventh and to left again in the eighth.

Stanky also changed (1) pitchers with a one-strike count on the batter and (2) second baseman in the middle of an inning.

Dark wasn't far behind. Chico Salmon, his left fielder, moved to second base in the eighth and played third, second and third again, all in the 14th. Ken Suarez, a catcher by trade, found himself at third base in the 13th and at second, third and second again in the 14th.

Minnesota pushed across its winning run on two walks and a Yankee error in the eighth inning. The Twins threatened to get more.

With the bases loaded and none out, John Roseboro lined the ball back to pitcher Dooley Womack, who threw to third baseman Bobby Cox to double Tony Oliva. Cox' relay to Mickey Mantle nipped Bob Allison trying to scramble back to the bag.

The Twins had gone ahead 2-0 in the third on run-scoring singles by Roseboro and Cesar Tovar. The Yankees scored their three runs in the sixth on a two-run single by Andy Kosco and a hit by Joe Pepitone. Rich Rollins homered for the Twins' tying run in the seventh.

Jim Lonborg, pitching in relief, worked out of a bases-loaded jam in his first Boston appearance since the 1967 World Series as the Red Sox beat Detroit. But he needed last-out help from Sparky Lyle.

The Sox had seen a 4-1 lead trimmed to 4-3 and the Tigers had two baserunners in the seventh when Lonborg, just over a knee operation, took the mound to a standing ovation. He hit Bill Freehan with a pitch to load the bases but got Willie Horton to ground out.

After Gates Brown doubled and Dick McAuliffe walked in the ninth Lonborg fed a double play ball to Mickey Stanley. Lyle then came on to retire Jim Northrup.

The setback reduced Detroit's league lead to two games over Baltimore. The Orioles blanked California behind Dave McNally's five-hit, 12-strikeout pitching and Boog Powell's two-run homer in the fourth.

The Ken Boyer-Rocky Colavito entry, out of the money a year ago in Chicago, is beginning to pay its way for the Los Angeles Dodgers.

Boyer and Colavito, the aging sluggers obtained by the Dodgers this spring in separate deals with the Chicago White Sox, delivered successive run-scoring singles in the first inning Monday night, triggering Los Angeles to a 2-0 victory over Pittsburgh.

Staked to the early lead, southpaw Claude Osteen scattered seven hits and blanked the Pirates with the help of four double plays.

The Dodgers purchased Colavito, 34, shortly before the start of the season and signed Boyer, 37, as a free agent last month in an effort ot beef up their attack. The White Sox picked up both veterans last season for the same reason, but could finish no better than fourth—although the pair combined to drive in 50 runs.

Monday night, Boyer hiked his batting average 25 points to .304 with a double and the RBI single in three trips to the plate. Colavito, 1-for-3 against the Pirates, moved up four points to an even .200. The Dodgers, meanwhile, returned to the .500 level and remained only 3½ games off the lead.

Osteen, who struck out six, brought his record to 4-7 at the expense of Pirate southpaw Bob Veale, 2-6, who has been given a total of eight runs to work with in his six setbacks.

Mike Shannon drove in three runs with two doubles and a sacrifice fly and Orlando Cepeda delivered two more with a single and his sixth homer as the Cardinals held first place by one game over Atlanta.

Rusty Staub collected four of the Astros' 11 hits off winning pitcher Nelson Briles, 6-4, who struck out 10 in going the distance

Hank Aaron bounced into a force play in the sixth inning, stole second and scored on Tito Francona's two-out single, breaking a 2-2 tie at Cincinnati.

The Reds grabbed a 2-0 first inning lead against winner Ken Johnson, 3-3, but Joe Torre's two-run homer pulled the Braves even in the fourth. After Francona's single broke the deadlock, Claude Raymond pitched three scoreless innings of relief, protecting the one-run edge.

Chris Short stopped the Giants on five hits and Philadelphia pushed over an unearned run against Ray Sadecki in the seventh on Bill White's single, a passed ball by catcher Dick Dietz and a single by Roberto Pena.

The Giants, who had two runners thrown out at the plate in failing to give Sadecki a run for the third time in his last three starts, slipped from second to third place in the race—1½ games off the pace.

Snead At Indianapolis For Open Qualifying

By BOB GREEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

Sam Snead, now 56 but jaunty as ever, set out once again today in his lifelong quest for the big one that got away—the U. S. Open Golf Championship.

Old Sam, winner of more than 100 major tournaments but a lifelong also-ran in the Open, was among a group of 57 pros and amateurs seeking 14 berths in a sectional qualification at Indianapolis.

Other 36-hole qualifying rounds today also were scheduled at Bakersfield, Calif., San Francisco, Washington, Detroit, St. Louis, Montclair, N.J., and Pittsburgh.

At stake are 71 spots in the 150 man field that will play for the Open title on the Oak Hill Country Club course at Rochester, N.Y., June 13-16. Sectional qualifying in five locations filed 45 berths Monday.

Most of the top name touring pros, including defending champion Jack Nicklaus, are in the group of 34 exempt from qualifying rounds.

Also exempt are the Open and PGA champions of the last five years, last year's 15 leading money winners, the top 15 finishers in the 1967 Open, and British Open champion Robert De Vicenzo.

Most of the regular tourists not exempt fired their qualifying round Monday at the par 72 Atlanta Country Club course, where they completed the Atlanta Classic last weekend.

There were some notable casualties, including four former Open champions—Jack Fleck, Dick Mayer, Tommy Bolt and Cary Middlecoff, who won in 1956, the last time the tournament was played at Oak Hill.

Former PGA champions Lionel and Jay Hebert and flashy Chi Chi Rodriguez also failed to make the 146 cut.

Dave Stockton led the field of 29 Atlanta qualifiers with a 138, including a six-under-par 66 on his second round. Hideyo Sugimoto of Japan was second at 139. He had a morning round of 66, including a hole in one on the par 3 sixth hole.

The best round of the day was a 70-65—135 by Don Bies on the par 71 Inglewood Country Club course in Seattle, where three spots were open.

Bob Glass Qualifies For State

Bob Glass of Oak Glen qualified to go to the West Virginia state high school golf championships at Parkersburg Country Club Monday by shooting a 79 in regional play at Oglebay Park in Wheeling yesterday.

As a team, Oak Glen was eighth in the regionals, as Phil Hudok had an 89, Jim Szymanek a 92, Gregg Todd a 93 and Jack Burnquist a 94.

Wheeling won with 317, Weirton had 322, Sistersville 334, Moundsville and New Martinsville 345, Wellsburg 346, Triadelphia 351, Oak Glen 353, St. Mary's 359, Follansbee 367, Benwood 371 and Warwood 378.

Tom Rowe of Weirton and Tom Murphy of Wheeling were co-medalists with 74s. Glass and Jim Murphy of Wheeling were next with 79s. The top three individuals go to state and Glass won a playoff. The top two teams also advance to state.

John Higgins had a grand slam as the Salineville Chiefs beat the Hammondsville Red Sox 9-3. Dave Brown took the win and Mark Crowe the loss.

The Salineville Mets outslugged the Irondale Indians 21-16, as Kanute Dugan got the win and Bill Allen took the loss.

Gadsby Red Wing Coach

By BILL HALLS
Associated Press Sports Writer

DETROIT (AP) — National Hockey League forwards are going to have to skate with their heads up against Detroit this season if Bill Gadsby has anything to do with it.

The 40-year-old Gadsby, who served 25½ hours in penalties in a 20-year career as an NHL defenseman, was named coach of the Red Wings Monday.

Gadsby, who watched several Red Wings' games this year, said he hadn't "seen too many bodies flying last season."

The Wings gave up a record 197 goals last year, finishing last in the NHL's East Division. They have missed the Stanley Cup playoffs two years running.

"I'm going to emphasize—demand—more defensive effort," said Gadsby. "When the forwards can come up the ice against you with their heads down—you're in trouble."

Oadsby replaces Sid Abel, who steps down after four years as manager-coach, to devote his full attention to the general manager's office.

Terms of the gentlemen's agreement pact between Gadsby and Bruce A. Norris, club president, were not disclosed. But it was estimated that Gadsby would receive upwards of $20,000.

Norris, who doesn't believe in formal written contracts because they "seem to be made to be broken," pays all top Red Wings' officials on a handshake basis.

Athletic Scholarships College Fiscal Drain

By WILL GRIMSLEY
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—"It's like having 280 kids in college at the same time," one athletic director of a large Midwest university groaned. "It's a financial back-breaker."

College athletics are in a money bind. They have become a high-pressured, multimillion-dollar business on most campuses. Costs have multiplied in the last decade. Football, once the breadwinner, no longer pays the freight.

Business managers—with a few exceptions, such as at Alabama and Notre Dame—are tightening their belts and putting in new orders for red ink.

Notre Dame's athletic budget has risen from $900,000 in 1963-64 to $2,000,000 in 1968-69 but it manages to operate in the black. Michigan State has seen its sports outlay mushroom from $147,000 in 1947 to $1,634,000 in 1967, an increase of 1,100 per cent.

In the Big Ten, long the symbol of big time college football, six of the ten members are reported operating at a loss. In the Big Eight, Kansas' budget has risen from $850,000 to 1.4 million in four years.

The sprawling universities of the Pacific Coast are similarly affected. In the hotbeds of the South and Southwest, where bowl teams are spawned, many of the colleges are dependent on booster clubs to keep their heads above water.

At major universities, athletic budgets run from $1,500,000 to as high as $3,200,000, the figure for Ohio State's 18-sport program.

Most of the sky-rocketing cost is purely economic, like the housewife's grocery list. The flashy gear to outfit one player runs around $150, quadruple what it was a few years ago. Jet travel costs more. Hotel and food prices have escalated.

The heavy burden, however, lies in the housing, feeding and educating of athletes on the cuff, so to speak. They are the players on grants-in-aid. They are given a free college education for their exploits on the field. In some cases, they are unlimited and run from $1,500 to $3,000 per year for each athlete.

Despite skyrocketing costs, many institutions, in order to keep pace with the escalation of big time college sport, have found it necessary to invest in giant, modern athletic complexes costing millions.

Purdue has just unveiled a new $17 million field house, Michigan's similar plant cost 14 million. Indiana has a new stadium and has authorized a new field house.

Notre Dame is completing an $8.6 million convocation and athletic building. Tennessee has one of the most modern sports plants in the country. Alabama has just opened a Sports Coliseum that makes the Taj Mahal look like Tobacco Road.

"These are not luxuries but necessities," argues a spokesman for the NCAA headquarters in Kansas City. "They are built to fill the needs of an exploding campus population."

Purdue's enrollment jumped from 12,700 in 1957 to 24,140 in 1967. The Big Ten, long symbolic of big time football, has seen its total enrollment jump 50 per cent in six years, with a present average of more than 29,000.

Michigan State has 38,100 students, Ohio State 31,800. On the Pacific Coast, Washington, UCLA and California are pushing 30,000.

"These student increases mean an expansion in facilities," the NCAA spokesman said. "More club sports, more teachers and coaches." That's just part of the problem. Students are given a priority on football tickets at a nominal fee of $1 each or nothing at all if included in student fees.

They are crowding out thousands of potential $5 and $6 customers in 60,000-seat stadiums.

Tri-State Wins Minor Loop Opener

Minor League baseball got underway in the area last night, with Tri-State Appliance whipping TS&T 18-7 in the most impressive performance of the evening.

Pusateri's edged M&A 8-7 and Rogers Drive-In beat Potter Bank 7-5 in other games.

Tri-State scored 11 runs before TS&T had a chance to bat, and coasted to the win. Mike Mackey was the winner, fanning 12. Scott Murray homered, Tim Barton had a double and triple and Mike Woods had a single and double for the winners. Lockhart homered, Black had a double and triple for the losers and Eckstein was the losing pitcher.

TRI-STATE	1121 400—18
TS&T	103 201— 7

Pusateri's broke a 6-6 tie with two runs in the ninth to win. R. Moore was the winning pitcher, fanning nine. He also homered and singled. G. Marker was the losing pitcher and B. Thayer got four hits.

PUSATERI	030 302—8 11 1
M&A	003 301—7 5 2

A rally by Potters Bank fell short against Rogers. Stephen Sinclair was the winning pitcher with 13 strikeouts, while Mike Hall took the loss. Greg Dray led the winners with two doubles and a single, while Jeff Anderson and Ron Barber each added a single and double. Gene DaLessio had a double and triple for the losers and Mike Gross two singles.

E. Liverpool Wins Opening Softball Game

The East Liverpool Merchants won their opening game in the Lisbon fast-pitch softball league Sunday, nipping the Wellsville Merchants 4-3 at Lisbon.

Manager Bill Talbot was the winning pitcher. Peck Glover hit a two-run double in the sixth for the winning runs. Gail Talbott was the losing pitcher and Jack Call homered for Wellsville.

East Liverpool will meet Salineville tonight at 7:15.

Canfield Rained Out

It was the same old story at Canfield Speedway last Saturday night as an afternoon rain caused a postponement of the stock car racing.

So in eight scheduled auto races this year, Canfield has managed to run just three times. However, a big program is in store for fans next Saturday night.

The late models and the stock division will provide the fireworks on the race track and after the races, there will be a huge fireworks display.

And for all this children under 12, accompanied by their parents, will be admitted free.

Ron Perranoski Off To Good Start In AL

By ED SCHUYLER JR.
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — American League batters are having trouble hitting Ron Perranoski's pitches. The veteran reliever's major problem seems to be finding the ball parks.

"I think actually I have a little advantage right now," the former Los Angeles Dodger said Monday night after winning his fifth game in six decisions as Minnesota edged the New York Yankees 4-3.

"They don't know me, and I don't them (the hitters), but I have the ball and know where I'm throwing it."

Then, he joked:

"I think the toughest thing coming to a new league is finding the ball park. The first time I was in Boston I got lost walking to the park, and it's only four blocks from the hotel. Also, I've had trouble finding the locker room after getting to the park.

"It makes me feel like a rookie."

But the 31-year-old southpaw is looking like anything but a rookie. He's looking like the man who was one of the National League's premier relief pitchers in his seven years with the Dodgers.

Perranoski came in Monday night with two out, two on and three Yankee runs across the plate in the sixth inning.

He got the final out and then retired the next nine in order, getting the victory after Minnesota tied the game in the seventh on Rich Rollins' homer and scored again in the eighth on two walks and third baseman Bobby Cox' error.

He now has pitched 35 1-3 innings in 22 appearances and yielded just six earned runs for an ERA of 1.53.

Gadsby Red Wing Coach

By BILL HALLS
Associated Press Sports Writer

DETROIT (AP) — National Hockey League forwards are going to have to skate with their heads up against Detroit this season if Bill Gadsby has anything to do with it.

The 40-year-old Gadsby, who served 25½ hours in penalties in a 20-year career as an NHL defenseman, was named coach of the Red Wings Monday.

Gadsby, who watched several Red Wings' games this year, said he hadn't "seen too many bodies flying last season."

The Wings gave up a record 197 goals last year, finishing last in the NHL's East Division. They have missed the Stanley Cup playoffs two years running.

"I'm going to emphasize—demand—more defensive effort," said Gadsby. "When the forwards can come up the ice against you with their heads down—you're in trouble."

Oadsby replaces Sid Abel, who steps down after four years as manager-coach, to devote his full attention to the general manager's office.

Terms of the gentlemen's agreement pact between Gadsby and Bruce A. Norris, club president, were not disclosed. But it was estimated that Gadsby would receive upwards of $20,000.

Norris, who doesn't believe in formal written contracts because they "seem to be made to be broken," pays all top Red Wings' officials on a handshake basis.

Athletic Scholarships College Fiscal Drain

By WILL GRIMSLEY
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—"It's like having 280 kids in college at the same time," one athletic director of a large Midwest university groaned. "It's a financial back-breaker."

College athletics are in a money bind. They have become a high-pressured, multimillion-dollar business on most campuses. Costs have multiplied in the last decade. Football, once the breadwinner, no longer pays the freight.

Business managers—with a few exceptions, such as at Alabama and Notre Dame—are tightening their belts and putting in new orders for red ink.

Notre Dame's athletic budget has risen from $900,000 in 1963-64 to $2,000,000 in 1968-69 but it manages to operate in the black. Michigan State has seen its sports outlay mushroom from $147,000 in 1947 to $1,634,000 in 1967, an increase of 1,100 per cent.

In the Big Ten, long the symbol of big time college football, six of the ten members are reported operating at a loss. In the Big Eight, Kansas' budget has risen from $850,000 to 1.4 million in four years.

The sprawling universities of the Pacific Coast are similarly affected. In the hotbeds of the South and Southwest, where bowl teams are spawned, many of the colleges are dependent on booster clubs to keep their heads above water.

At major universities, athletic budgets run from $1,500,000 to as high as $3,200,000, the figure for Ohio State's 18-sport program.

Most of the sky-rocketing cost is purely economic, like the housewife's grocery list. The flashy gear to outfit one player runs around $150, quadruple what it was a few years ago. Jet travel costs more. Hotel and food prices have escalated.

The heavy burden, however, lies in the housing, feeding and educating of athletes on the cuff, so to speak. They are the players on grants-in-aid. They are given a free college education for their exploits on the field. In some cases, they are unlimited and run from $1,500 to $3,000 per year for each athlete.

Despite skyrocketing costs, many institutions, in order to keep pace with the escalation of big time college sport, have found it necessary to invest in giant, modern athletic complexes costing millions.

Purdue has just unveiled a new $17 million field house, Michigan's similar plant cost 14 million. Indiana has a new stadium and has authorized a new field house.

Notre Dame is completing an $8.6 million convocation and athletic building. Tennessee has one of the most modern sports plants in the country. Alabama has just opened a Sports Coliseum that makes the Taj Mahal look like Tobacco Road.

"These are not luxuries but necessities," argues a spokesman for the NCAA headquarters in Kansas City. "They are built to fill the needs of an exploding campus population."

Purdue's enrollment jumped from 12,700 in 1957 to 24,140 in 1967. The Big Ten, long symbolic of big time football, has seen its total enrollment jump 50 per cent in six years, with a present average of more than 29,000.

Michigan State has 38,100 students, Ohio State 31,800. On the Pacific Coast, Washington, UCLA and California are pushing 30,000.

"These student increases mean an expansion in facilities," the NCAA spokesman said. "More club sports, more teachers and coaches." That's just part of the problem. Students are given a priority on football tickets at a nominal fee of $1 each or nothing at all if included in student fees.

They are crowding out thousands of potential $5 and $6 customers in 60,000-seat stadiums.

Tri-State Wins Minor Loop Opener

Minor League baseball got underway in the area last night, with Tri-State Appliance whipping TS&T 18-7 in the most impressive performance of the evening.

Pusateri's edged M&A 8-7 and Rogers Drive-In beat Potter Bank 7-5 in other games.

Tri-State scored 11 runs before TS&T had a chance to bat, and coasted to the win. Mike Mackey was the winner, fanning 12. Scott Murray homered, Tim Barton had a double and triple and Mike Woods had a single and double for the winners. Lockhart homered, Black had a double and triple for the losers and Eckstein was the losing pitcher.

TRI-STATE	1121 400—18
TS&T	103 201— 7

Pusateri's broke a 6-6 tie with two runs in the ninth to win. R. Moore was the winning pitcher, fanning nine. He also homered and singled. G. Marker was the losing pitcher and B. Thayer got four hits.

PUSATERI	030 302—8 11 1
M&A	003 301—7 5 2

A rally by Potters Bank fell short against Rogers. Stephen Sinclair was the winning pitcher with 13 strikeouts, while Mike Hall took the loss. Greg Dray led the winners with two doubles and a single, while Jeff Anderson and Ron Barber each added a single and double. Gene DaLessio had a double and triple for the losers and Mike Gross two singles.

POTTERS BANK	200 003—5 4

E. Liverpool Wins Opening Softball Game

The East Liverpool Merchants won their opening game in the Lisbon fast-pitch softball league Sunday, nipping the Wellsville Merchants 4-3 at Lisbon.

Manager Bill Talbot was the winning pitcher. Peck Glover hit a two-run double in the sixth for the winning runs. Gail Talbott was the losing pitcher and Jack Call homered for Wellsville.

East Liverpool will meet Salineville tonight at 7:15.

Canfield Rained Out

It was the same old story at Canfield Speedway last Saturday night as an afternoon rain caused a postponement of the stock car racing.

So in eight scheduled auto races this year, Canfield has managed to run just three times. However, a big program is in store for fans next Saturday night.

The late models and the stock division will provide the fireworks on the race track and after the races, there will be a huge fireworks display.

And for all this children under 12, accompanied by their parents, will be admitted free.

Ron Perranoski Off To Good Start In AL

By ED SCHUYLER JR.
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — American League batters are having trouble hitting Ron Perranoski's pitches. The veteran reliever's major problem seems to be finding the ball parks.

"I think actually I have a little advantage right now," the former Los Angeles Dodger said Monday night after winning his fifth game in six decisions as Minnesota edged the New York Yankees 4-3.

"They don't know me, and I don't them (the hitters), but I have the ball and know where I'm throwing it."

Then, he joked:

"I think the toughest thing coming to a new league is finding the ball park. The first time I was in Boston I got lost walking to the park, and it's only four blocks from the hotel. Also, I've had trouble finding the locker room after getting to the park.

"It makes me feel like a rookie."

But the 31-year-old southpaw is looking like anything but a rookie. He's looking like the man who was one of the National League's premier relief pitchers in his seven years with the Dodgers.

Perranoski came in Monday night with two out, two on and three Yankee runs across the plate in the sixth inning.

He got the final out and then retired the next nine in order, getting the victory after Minnesota tied the game in the seventh on Rich Rollins' homer and scored again in the eighth on two walks and third baseman Bobby Cox' error.

He now has pitched 35 1-3 innings in 22 appearances and yielded just six earned runs for an ERA of 1.53.

Out Of The Air

By HAL HUMPHREY

Reagan, The Master TV Craftsman

The only politician who comes over on TV better than Gov. Ronald Reagan today is New York City's Mayor John Lindsay. So believes Bill Boyarsky, political writer covering the statehouse in Sacramento, Calif., for the Associated Press and author of a new book, "The Rise of Ronald Reagan."

Hal Humphrey

"Mayor Lindsay is more natural on TV than Gov. Reagan, but nobody can touch Reagan's technical ability when it comes to TV," says Boyarsky.

-:-

IN BOYARSKY'S TV rating book, Reagan is not only better than Sen. Robert Kennedy on the tube, but is as good as the late Jack Kennedy was.

During the 1966 campaign in California, Boyarsky says he was struck by Reagan's knowledge of TV, which of course he came by through years of experience as host of the "Theater" series.

"He never loses his place on the Teleprompter," reports Boyarsky. "He can take a look out at the crowd, then bounce right back and pick up where he left off. Most politicians don't have that experience.

"Spencer-Roberts, the organization which masterminded Reagan's campaign, also made his political spots on TV deliberately crude looking during the campaign."

-:-

THIS WAS DONE, according to Boyarsky, to rid Reagan of his image as an actor. The production values were given Reagan. It was just him and a desk in those TV spots, and it worked.

"Charles Guggenheim, who produced that half-hour film for Gov. Pat Brown, did it beautifully, but it was too artsy-craftsy. It lacked the punch of Reagan's short spots," Boyarsky says.

It was in that half-hour TV film on Brown that he delivered that famous line to the little girl, "Don't forget an actor shot Lincoln." In the film's context and the kidding way Brown said it, the humor came through, but the line itself was used by Brown's opposition in a deadly fashion and it boomeranged on him.

-:-

"THE IMPORTANCE of TV never escapes Reagan either," adds Boyarsky. "If we pen-and-pencil reporters catch him at the airport alone, we get no story. But if the TV cameras are there, he turns it on, and he talks right to the camera.

"That's why you see him on TV so much, because he's provocative, and he goes to places where TV covers things."

Some observers think Gov. Reagan doesn't look as good on TV in recent months, but Boyarsky disagrees, says he's still as effective as ever and can get on TV and sell that soap.

"HE'S TENSE and nervous before a TV appearance, just like any actor," says Boyarsky as he recalls the time a year ago when Reagan and Bobby Kennedy appeared together on CBS' "Town Meeting of the Air" to answer questions from students from around the world assembled in England.

"Just a couple of weeks before this he'd bombed out at a personal appearance before the Washington Press Club, so when the 'Town Meeting' show came along, Reagan felt he had to prove himself and he did, but he was tense right beforehand. Then when he got on camera, he made Kennedy look ill at ease by comparison."

As Boyarsky also mentions, if you look at everything as having a simple answer, you naturally look better on TV than someone who isn't so sure that a simple answer is the solution to many of our problems today. Reagan has simple answers, no matter how complex the situation.

BECAUSE REAGAN has learned more about government in the past two years, his technique has improved at the press conferences on TV, too, Boyarsky points out. He knows how to handle the questions better, and Boyarsky insists the questions have gotten rougher and more disrespectful, especially since the question of dismissing staff members on homosexual charges came up.

"After watching Reagan on TV so much, I was struck recently how old-fashioned Vice President Humphrey was when he announced his candidacy on TV recently. He looked at the people in the room, instead of at the cameras. The man who's improved the most on TV is Richard Nixon. He's much more relaxed. Maybe it's because he's got more money now," says Boyarsky.

LBJ Freer Trade Drive Pressed On Capitol Hill

By JOSEPH R. COYNE
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Top Johnson administration officials are carrying to Capitol Hill the President's drive for freer trade while congressional sentiment is strong for using import quotas to protect U.S. industry.

The administration drive, launched today, amounts to the first major review of U.S. trade policy since the 1962 Trade Expansion Act, which greatly reduced tariffs.

Four administration officials will appeal for continuation of a policy begun by President Franklin D. Roosevelt. Despite Congress' general attitude, Johnson contends such restrictions as import quotas are "self defeating" because they only prompt other countries to impose similar restrictions on American goods.

The House Ways and Means Committee scheduled as witnesses for the first hearing Ambassador William Roth, President Johnson's special representative for trade negotiations; Secretary of Labor Willard Wirtz, Secretary of Commerce C. R. Smith and Secretary of the Interior Stewart L. Udall.

Secretary of State Dean Rusk and Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman are scheduled to testify Thursday along with Betty Furness, Johnson's representative for consumer affairs.

By scheduling its top officials as witnesses, the administration underscored the importance it attaches to its policy of freer trade and the depth of the protectionist sentiment it will be battling.

A significant omission among the witnesses, however, is Secretary of the Treasury Henry H. Fowler.

His absence indicates the administration has no plans now if at all—to propose a tax on imports or a tax rebate on exports to help stem the international dollar drain.

The possibility of such a tax package was suggested by the President Jan. 1 as part of his program to reduce by $3 billion this year the U.S. balance of payments deficit.

Despite congressional sentiment for import quotas, it appears unlikely the Ways and Means Committee will approve what the protectionist ask. It could request the administration, however, to reach voluntary agreement with other nations to limit imports, especially on textiles.

It was the 1962 act—a major proposal by President John F. Kennedy—which led to last year's agreement in the so-called Kennedy Round of trade negotiations to reduce tariffs an average of 35 per cent on thousands of imported goods. Other nations pledged similar cuts on U.S. exports.

The new administration program will pursue the same policy which led to that agreement.

Out Of The Air

By HAL HUMPHREY

Reagan, The Master TV Craftsman

The only politician who comes over on TV better than Gov. Ronald Reagan today is New York City's Mayor John Lindsay. So believes Bill Boyarsky, political writer covering the statehouse in Sacramento, Calif., for the Associated Press and author of a new book, "The Rise of Ronald Reagan."

Hal Humphrey

"Mayor Lindsay is more natural on TV than Gov. Reagan, but nobody can touch Reagan's technical ability when it comes to TV," says Boyarsky.

-:-

IN BOYARSKY'S TV rating book, Reagan is not only better than Sen. Robert Kennedy on the tube, but is as good as the late Jack Kennedy was.

During the 1966 campaign in California, Boyarsky says he was struck by Reagan's knowledge of TV, which of course he came by through years of experience as host of the "Theater" series.

"He never loses his place on the Teleprompter," reports Boyarsky. "He can take a look out at the crowd, then bounce right back and pick up where he left off. Most politicians don't have that experience.

"Spencer-Roberts, the organization which masterminded Reagan's campaign, also made his political spots on TV deliberately crude looking during the campaign."

-:-

THIS WAS DONE, according to Boyarsky, to rid Reagan of his image as an actor. The production values were given Reagan. It was just him and a desk in those TV spots, and it worked.

"Charles Guggenheim, who produced that half-hour film for Gov. Pat Brown, did it beautifully, but it was too artsy-craftsy. It lacked the punch of Reagan's short spots," Boyarsky says.

It was in that half-hour TV film on Brown that he delivered that famous line to the little girl, "Don't forget an actor shot Lincoln." In the film's context and the kidding way Brown said it, the humor came through, but the line itself was used by Brown's opposition in a deadly fashion and it boomeranged on him.

-:-

"THE IMPORTANCE of TV never escapes Reagan either," adds Boyarsky. "If we pen-and-pencil reporters catch him at the airport alone, we get no story. But if the TV cameras are there, he turns it on, and he talks right to the camera.

"That's why you see him on TV so much, because he's provocative, and he goes to places where TV covers things."

Some observers think Gov. Reagan doesn't look as good on TV in recent months, but Boyarsky disagrees, says he's still as effective as ever and can get on TV and sell that soap.

-:-

"HE'S TENSE and nervous before a TV appearance, just like any actor," says Boyarsky as he recalls the time a year ago when Reagan and Bobby Kennedy appeared together on CBS' "Town Meeting of the Air" to answer questions from students from around the world assembled in England.

"Just a couple of weeks before this he'd bombed out at a personal appearance before the Washington Press Club, so when the 'Town Meeting' show came along, Reagan felt he had to prove himself and he did, but he was tense right beforehand. Then when he got on camera, he made Kennedy look ill at ease by comparison."

As Boyarsky also mentions, if you look at everything as having a simple answer, you naturally look better on TV than someone who isn't so sure that a simple answer is the solution to many of our problems today. Reagan has simple answers, no matter how complex the situation.

BECAUSE REAGAN has learned more about government in the past two years, his technique has improved at the press conferences on TV, too, Boyarsky points out. He knows how to handle the questions better, and Boyarsky insists the questions have gotten rougher and more disrespectful, especially since the question of dismissing staff members on homosexual charges came up.

"After watching Reagan on TV so much, I was struck recently how old-fashioned Vice President Humphrey was when he announced his candidacy on TV recently. He looked at the people in the room, instead of at the cameras. The man who's improved the most on TV is Richard Nixon. He's much more relaxed. Maybe it's because he's got more money now," says Boyarsky.

LBJ Freer Trade Drive Pressed On Capitol Hill

By JOSEPH R. COYNE
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Top Johnson administration officials are carrying to Capitol Hill the President's drive for freer trade while congressional sentiment is strong for using import quotas to protect U.S. industry.

The administration drive, launched today, amounts to the first major review of U.S. trade policy since the 1962 Trade Expansion Act, which greatly reduced tariffs.

Four administration officials will appeal for continuation of a policy begun by President Franklin D. Roosevelt. Despite Congress' general attitude, Johnson contends such restrictions as import quotas are "self defeating" because they only prompt other countries to impose similar restrictions on American goods.

The House Ways and Means Committee scheduled as witnesses for the first hearing Ambassador William Roth, President Johnson's special representative for trade negotiations; Secretary of Labor Willard Wirtz, Secretary of Commerce C. R. Smith and Secretary of the Interior Stewart L. Udall.

Secretary of State Dean Rusk and Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman are scheduled to testify Thursday along with Betty Furness, Johnson's representative for consumer affairs.

By scheduling its top officials as witnesses, the administration underscored the importance it attaches to its policy of freer trade and the depth of the protectionist sentiment it will be battling.

A significant omission among the witnesses, however, is Secretary of the Treasury Henry H. Fowler.

His absence indicates the administration has no plans now if at all—to propose a tax on imports or a tax rebate on exports to help stem the international dollar drain.

The possibility of such a tax package was suggested by the President Jan. 1 as part of his program to reduce by $3 billion this year the U.S. balance of payments deficit.

Despite congressional sentiment for import quotas, it appears unlikely the Ways and Means Committee will approve what the protectionist ask. It could request the administration, however, to reach voluntary agreement with other nations to limit imports, especially on textiles.

It was the 1962 act—a major proposal by President John F. Kennedy—which led to last year's agreement in the so-called Kennedy Round of trade negotiations to reduce tariffs an average of 35 per cent on thousands of imported goods. Other nations pledged similar cuts on U.S. exports.

The new administration program will pursue the same policy which led to that agreement.

Junior Editors Quiz on ELECTRIC EELS

QUESTION: Where does the electric eel get his electricity?

ANSWER: The animal called an electric eel is not a true eel but a member of another group of fish related to the catfish and carp. It has a long, round tail which makes it look like an eel. This tail is crowded with many organs packed one behind the other like the plates of a battery. These produce electric power which discharges from the tail. As the eel cruises along, a small voltage of electricity is constantly emitted (A) to arc forward and be received near the head. Although blind in the eyes, which are possibly damaged by the electricity, the light current acts as a kind of radar. The eel thus knows if something, like a fish, has come into the path of the current. Then he sends out a set of strong shocks sufficient to stun the interfering fish (B). Meanwhile, the eel turns toward the path of interference and seizes what's there. He swallows it whole having no teeth. Several other kinds of fish use electricity to stun their prey. The electric ray and the star gazer, shown in the picture, are examples.
